One Year of Educational Life Is Portrayed

Through the words and pictures which comprise this edition, we have endeavored to capture one important year of our lives—the work, the fun, the problems, the classes, and the activities which are a student's life. As we reflect upon these, we realize that from each experience we have gained in knowledge, understanding, and maturity.

High school, basically, is a hall of learning, and it is during school years that we do much of learning for life; thus the staff has chosen to portray this year by depicting our educational experiences.

Some of us are leaving high school now. We realize that we have reached no final goal but will continue to grow and learn as we apply the knowledge we have acquired here to newer and ever greater challenges.

Wisdom and knowledge of the ages are stored for instruction and understanding of the future.

This community has a deep sense of pride in its schools and a proud history of providing a quality program of education. The facilities made available for your training are the result of an abiding faith the citizens have in the youth of today. The education you have received in the North Canton schools will open broader areas of training and service in the years ahead. At no time in our history have educational opportunities been so great for high school graduates. As your community has worked to "keep schools good as they grow," so must you assume your responsibility in continuing to grow intellectually, morally, and socially.

SCHOOL OPENS . . .

School is an important part of everyone's life. It lays the foundation for future years, the groundwork for a career in later life.

Who can forget his first day of school, when he approached the great doors with that little hidden fear mingled with excitement and expectation? It is indeed a brave step to take. But finally he summons his courage and succeeds in finding himself in strange, new surroundings.

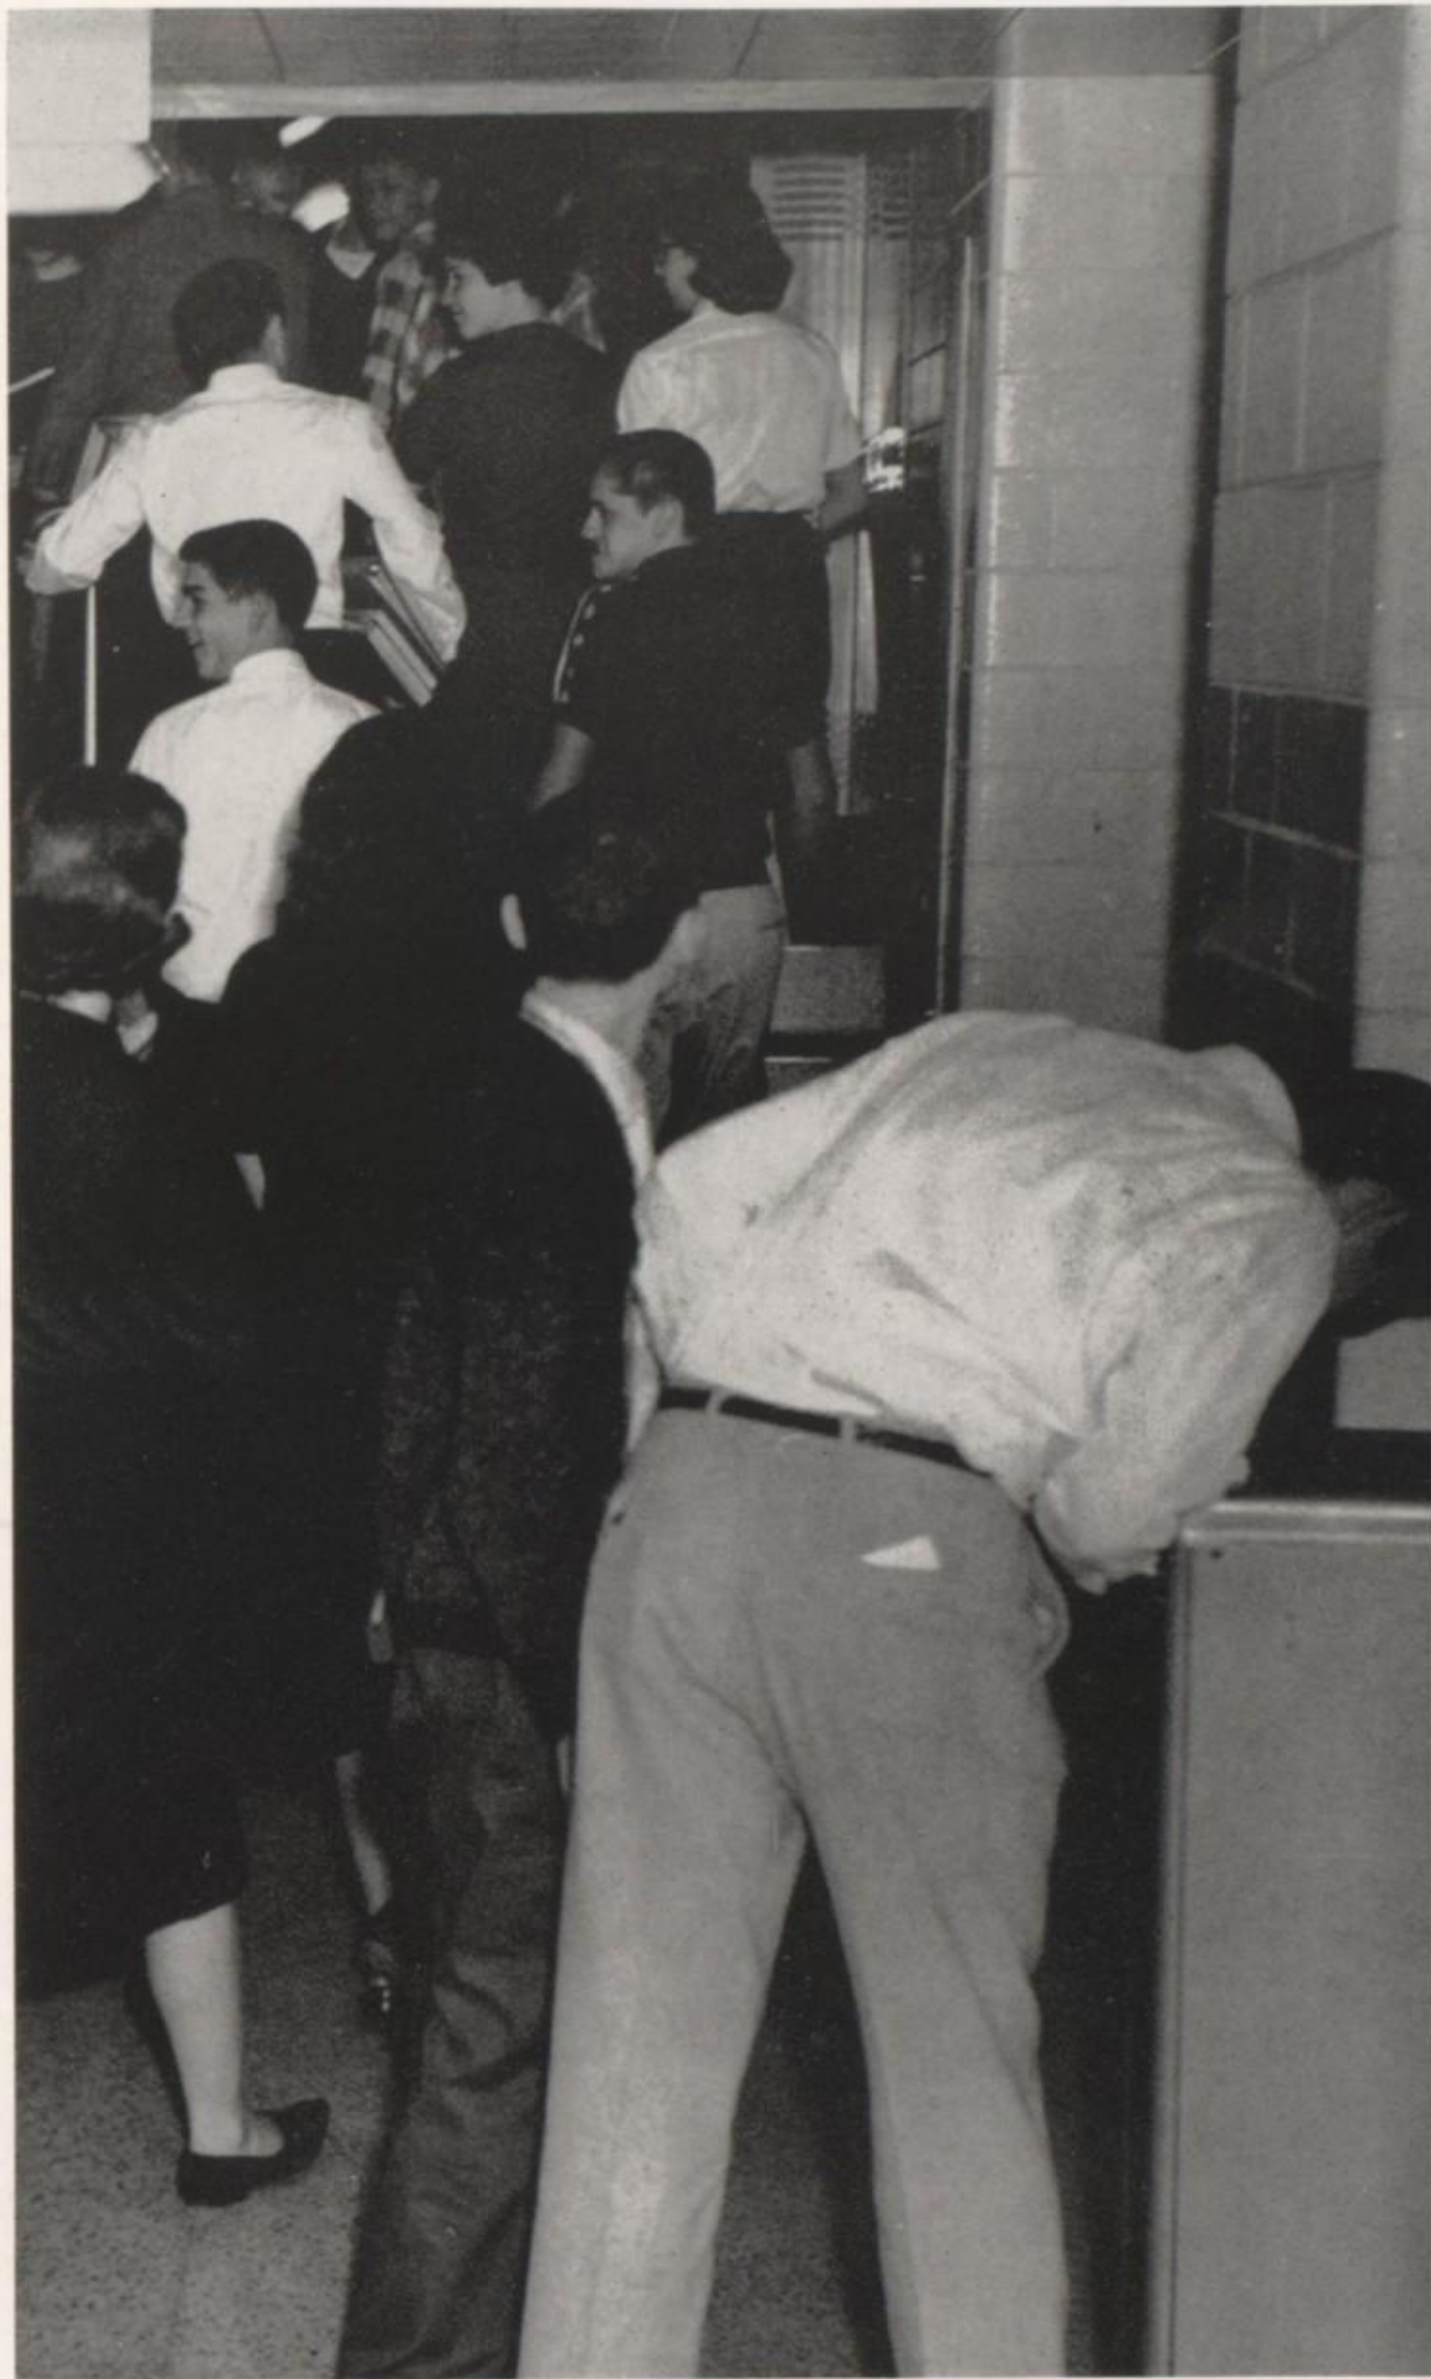

One soon becomes accustomed to the routine of high school life, to the days of hurrying through crowded halls from class to class, to lunch, then back to more classes. But one finds more than just this. Here he finds companionship, someone to sit with at lunch or at a football game. He finds someone to learn from, and people with whom he can share new experiences. And, most important of all, here one can find himself while at the same time finding an education.

"Here is everything advantageous to life."
Shakespeare—The Tempest

"He is well paid that is well satisfied."
Shakespeare—Merchant of Venice

"The fashion of these times."
Shakespeare—As You Like It

And Begins, Amid

"We will draw the curtain and show you the picture."

Shakespeare--Twelfth Night

"Come what come may, time and the hour runs through the roughest day."

Shakespeare--Macbeth

"Cheer and great welcome make a merry feast."
Shakespeare--Comedy of Errors

Confusion, To Give Us . . .

School life settles down to a routine as the first days of registration and confusion are followed by more orderly ones. Pep rallies are looked forward to by all students as a time to yell at the top of their voices to show the team that they're behind them all the way — win or lose.

The operetta, H.M.S. Pinafore, given in November, was enjoyed by both the participants and the audience.

Home study is a part of everyone's life. Perhaps it is not the most enjoyable part, but it is by far the most profitable when test results are revealed.

The festive spirit of the Christmas season is enhanced by the Student Council's beautifully decorated tree in the main entrance hall.

As the school days rush by, one always seems to find time to keep up his friendships. This is school with its many and varied facets.

"When icicles hang by the wall . . ."

Shakespeare—Love's Labors Lost

"There's a time for all things."

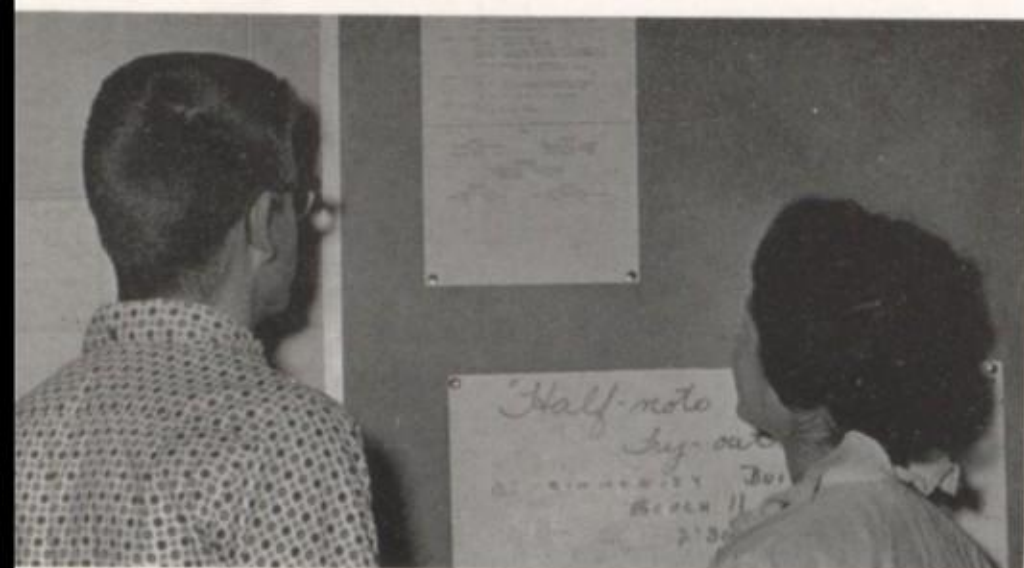

Shakespeare—Comedy of Errors

"Past and to come seem best; things present worst."

Shakespeare—King Henry IV

"Men at some time are masters of their fates."
Shakespeare—Julius Caesar

"Life is as tedious as a twice-told tale."
Shakespeare—King John

"He thinks too much—such men are dangerous."
Shakespeare—Julius Caesar

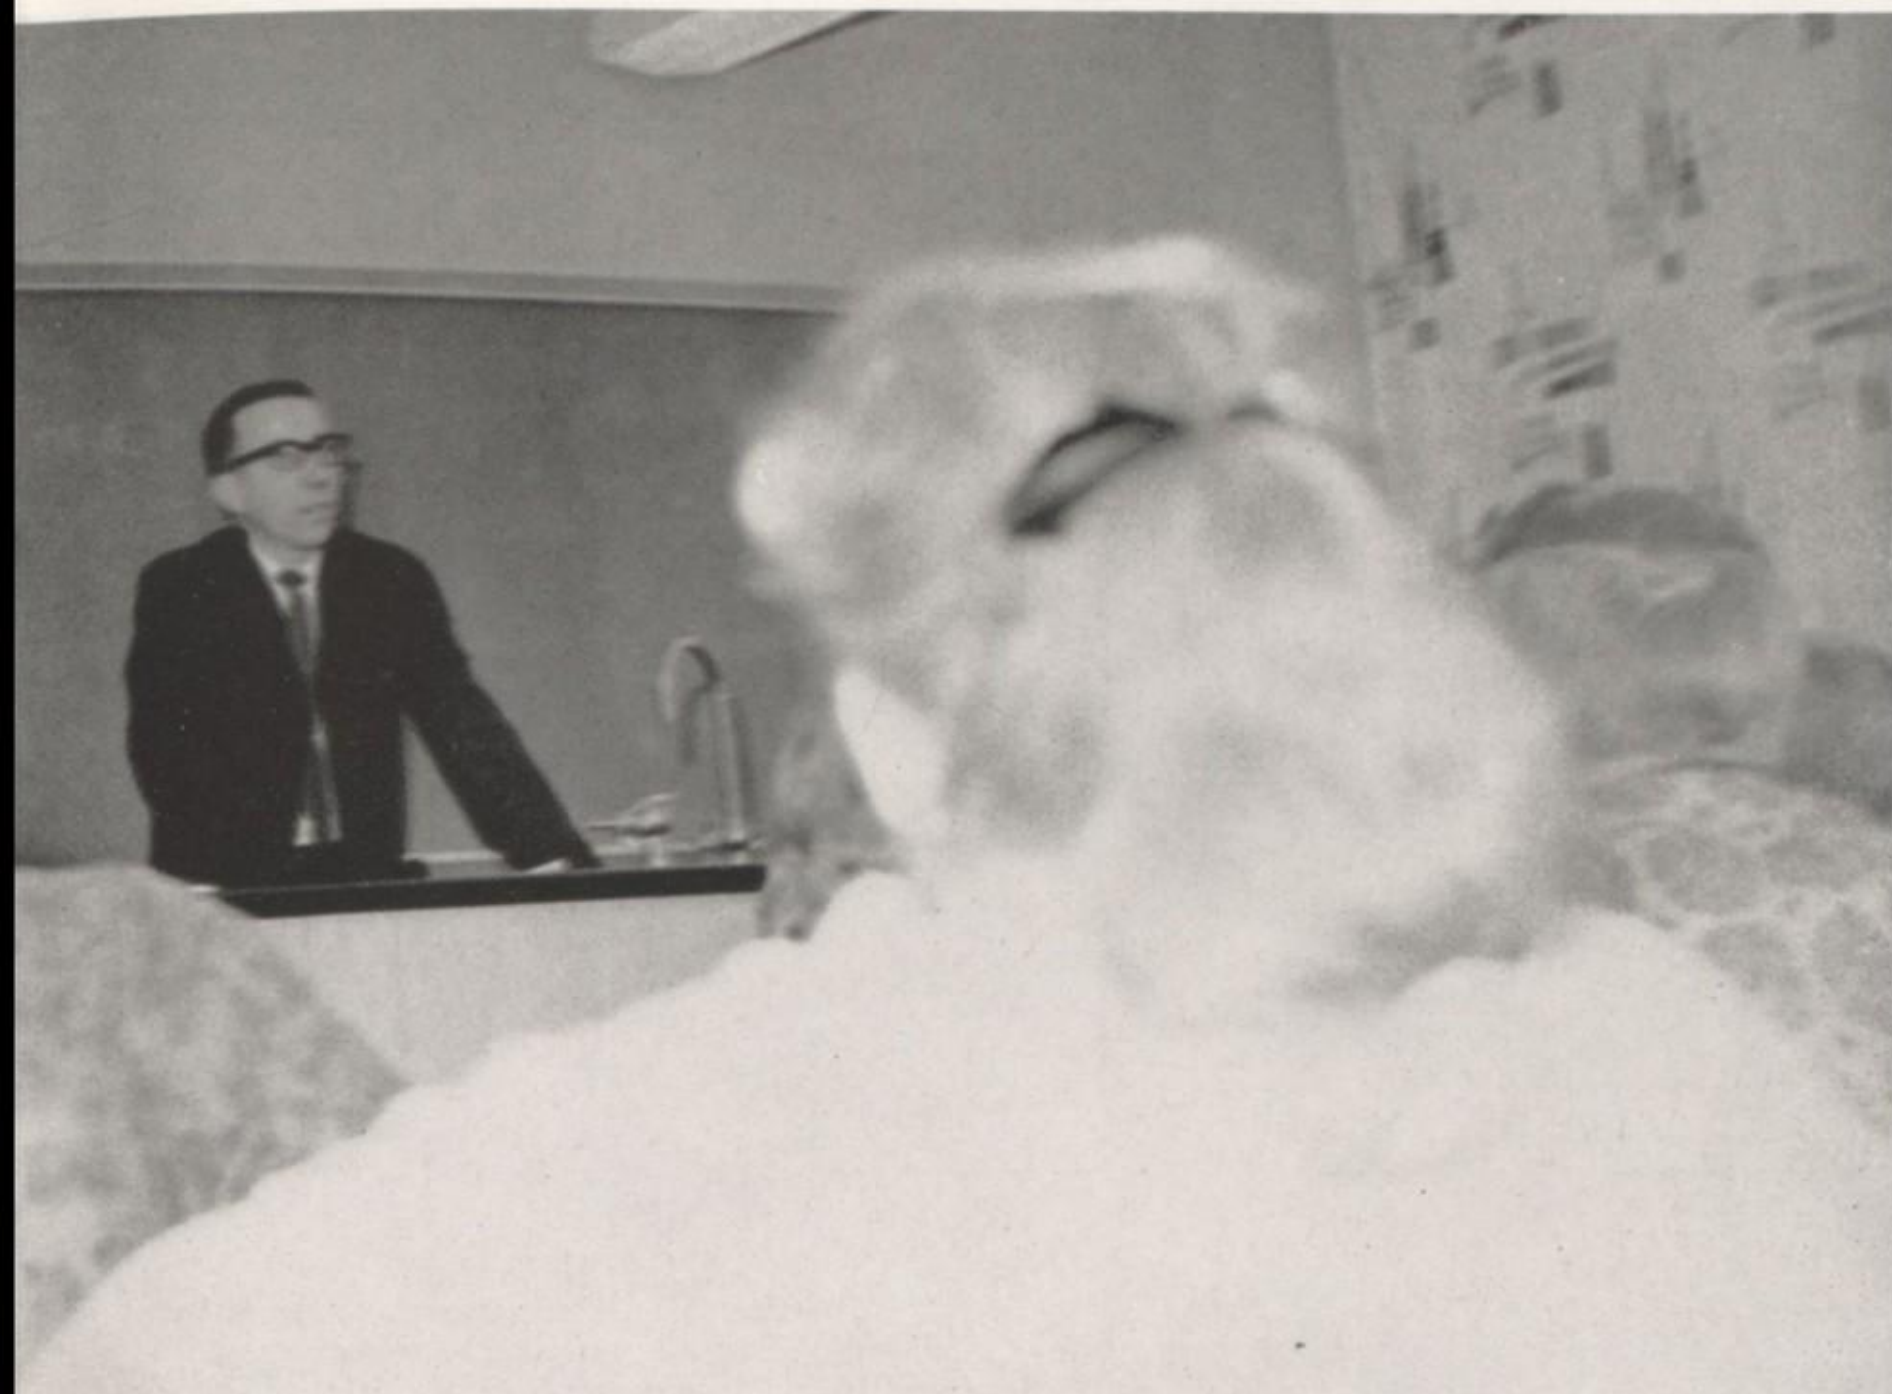

"Let us not burden our remembrances with a heaviness that's gone."
Shakespeare—The Tempest

An Education, Through

"Oh how full of briars is this working day world."
Shakespeare—As You Like It

Experience and Teaching, Which We Shall Use . . .

Who can forget the frolicking fun and tedious toil of the winter season? Examinations, unfortunately, face everyone as a threatening monster who is ready to fire the last shot. More studying is done at this time of year than any other. The teachers also suffer, since it is their responsibility to grade all the papers.

Mr. Armstrong is always available to every student to answer any questions about high school, college, or vocational problems.

Class room lectures demand constant attention and accurate notes by the conscientious student.

Among the highlights of the year is the enjoyment of dancing at the winter formals. These invite many to join in some hard work and much planning, but give immeasurable pleasure to all.

"For you and I are past our dancing days."
Shakespeare—Romeo and Juliet

"For sufferance is the badge of all our tribe."
Shakespeare—Merchant of Venice

Both Now and In the Future.

"One touch of nature makes the whole world kin."
Shakespeare—Troilus and Cressida

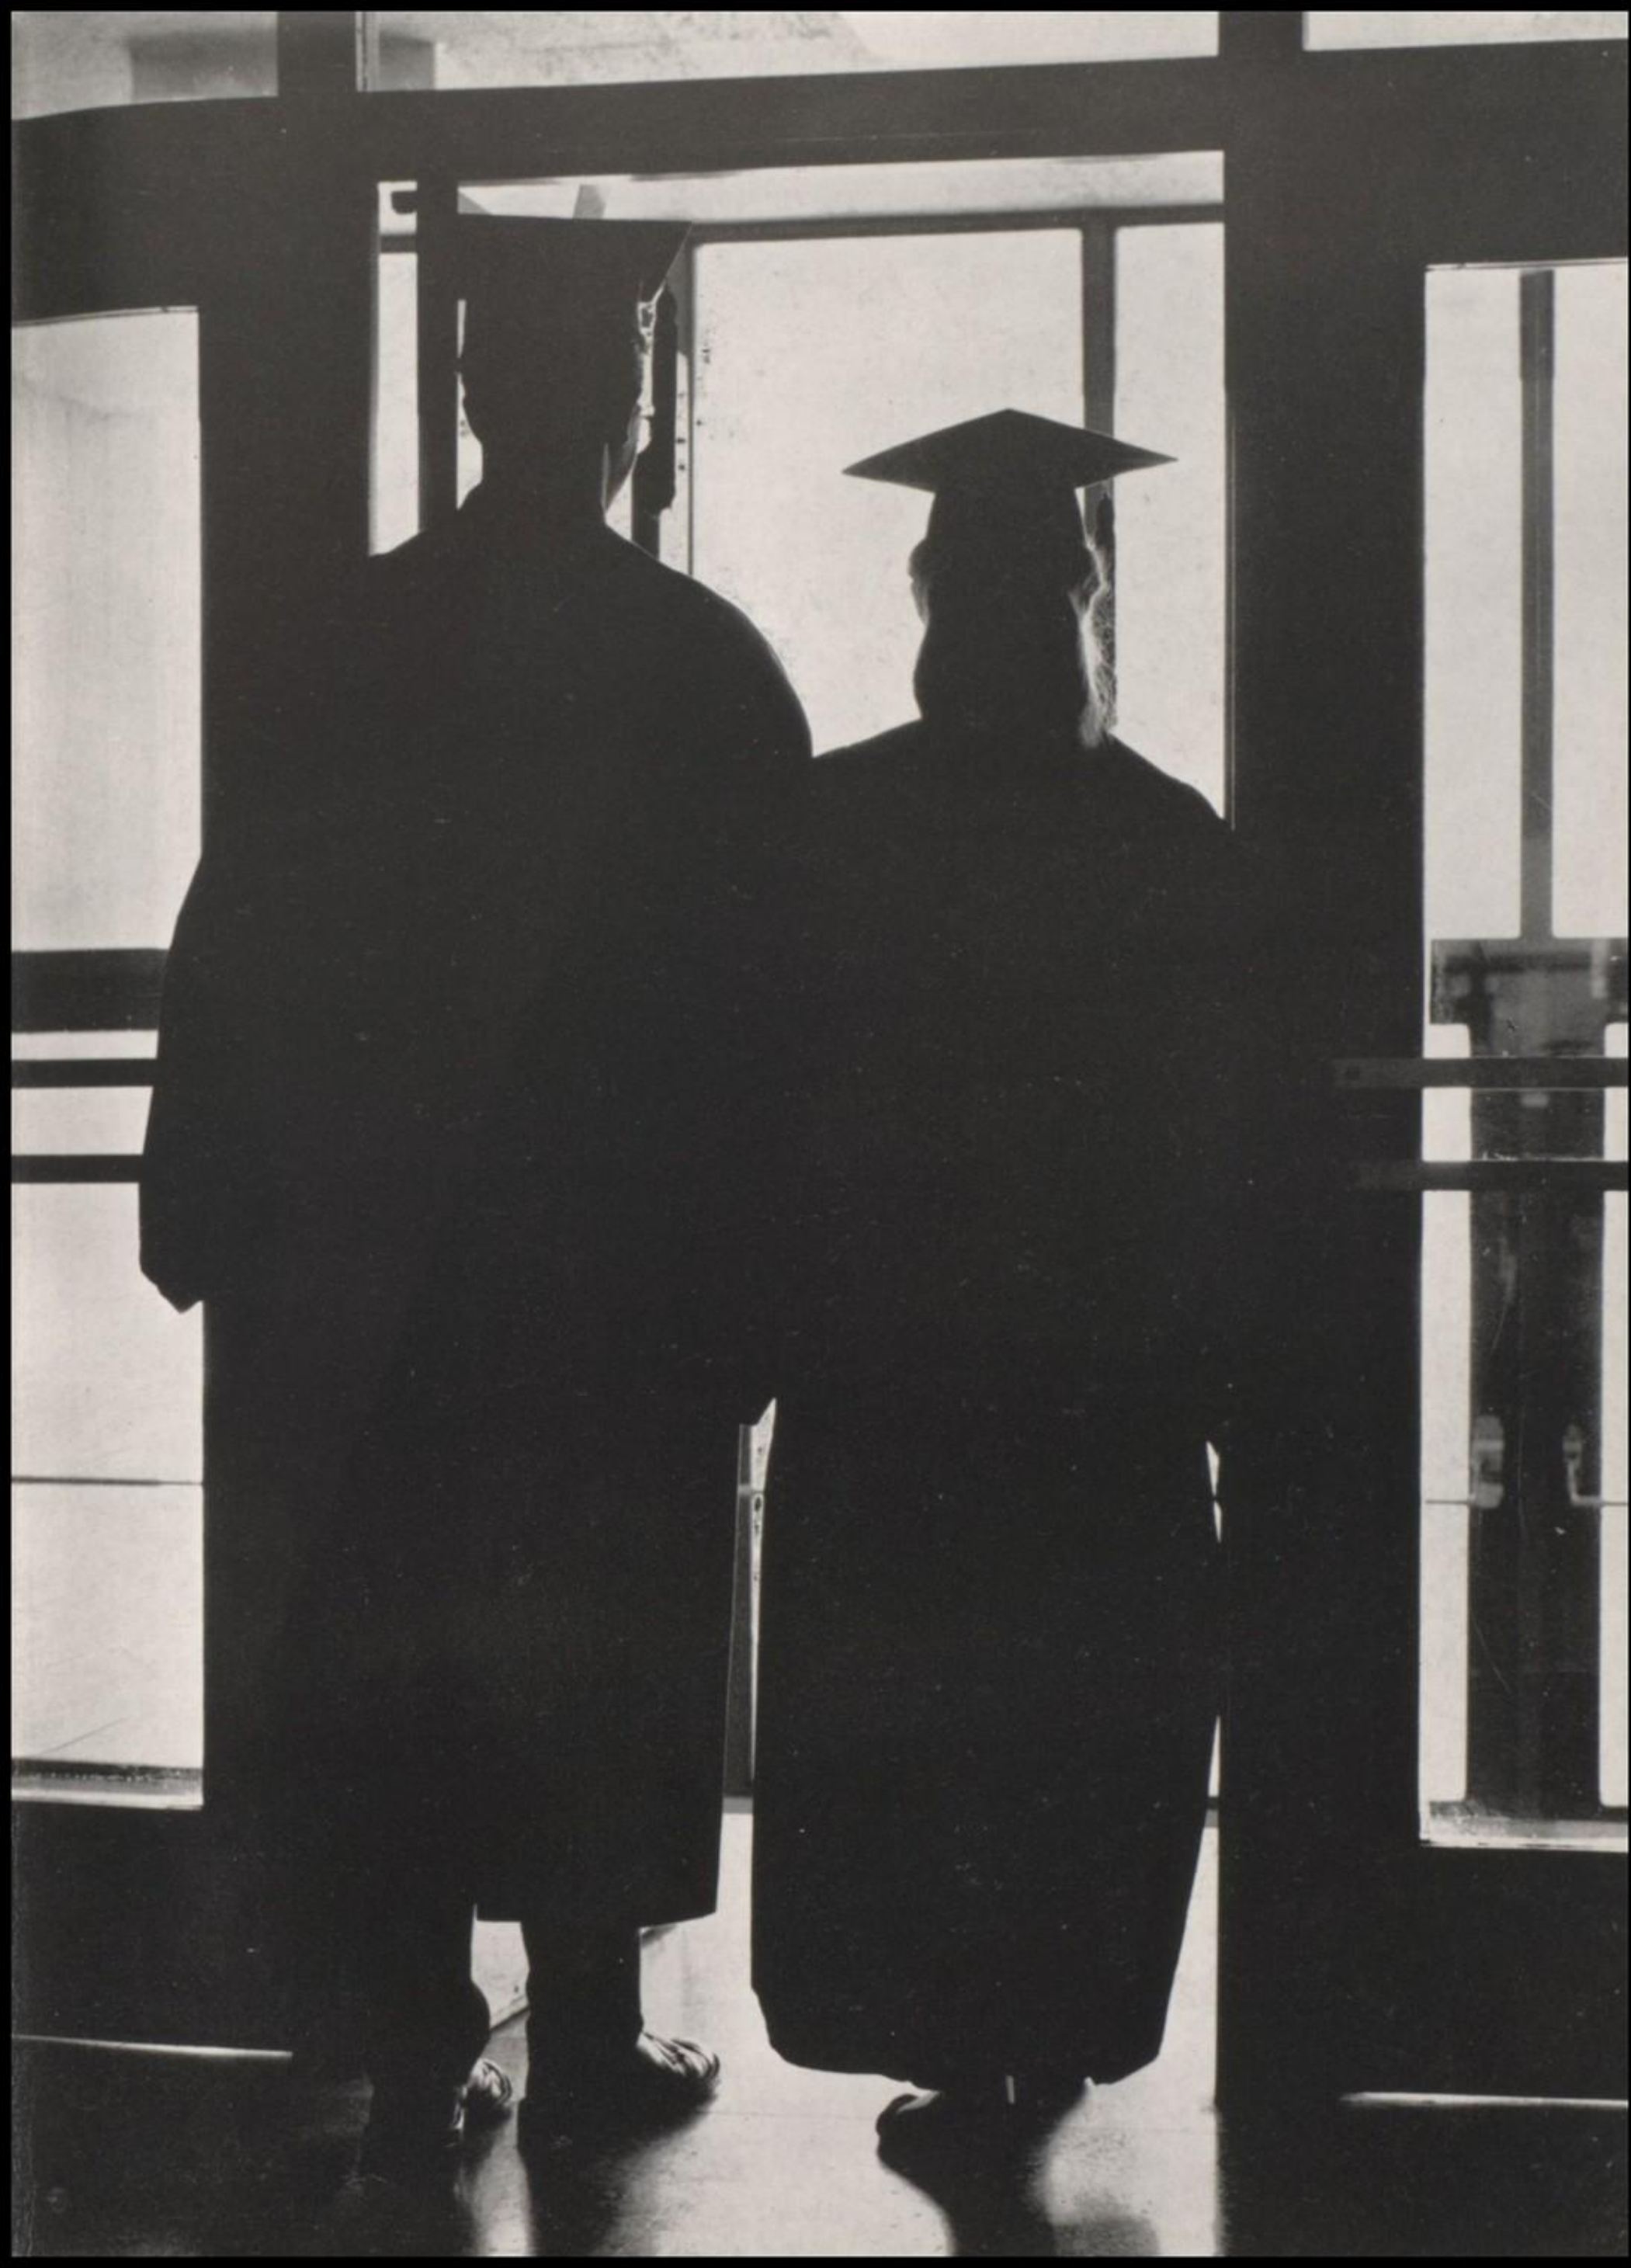

The end of a sometimes hard but always educational four years comes for the class of '61. There is a flurry of last-minute studying for exams, then (ah!) the more carefree side of life is experienced with picnics and fun. Who of the upperclassmen will ever forget the wonderful prom?

But now it is time for all of us to look ahead—some to college, and some to an immediate career. However, the ties formed during these four brief years "can ne'er be broken." The experiences encountered here will ever remain a part of our education as we accept our positions in the world of tomorrow.

"O, how this spring resembleth the uncertain glory of an April day."

Shakespeare—Two Gentleman of Verona

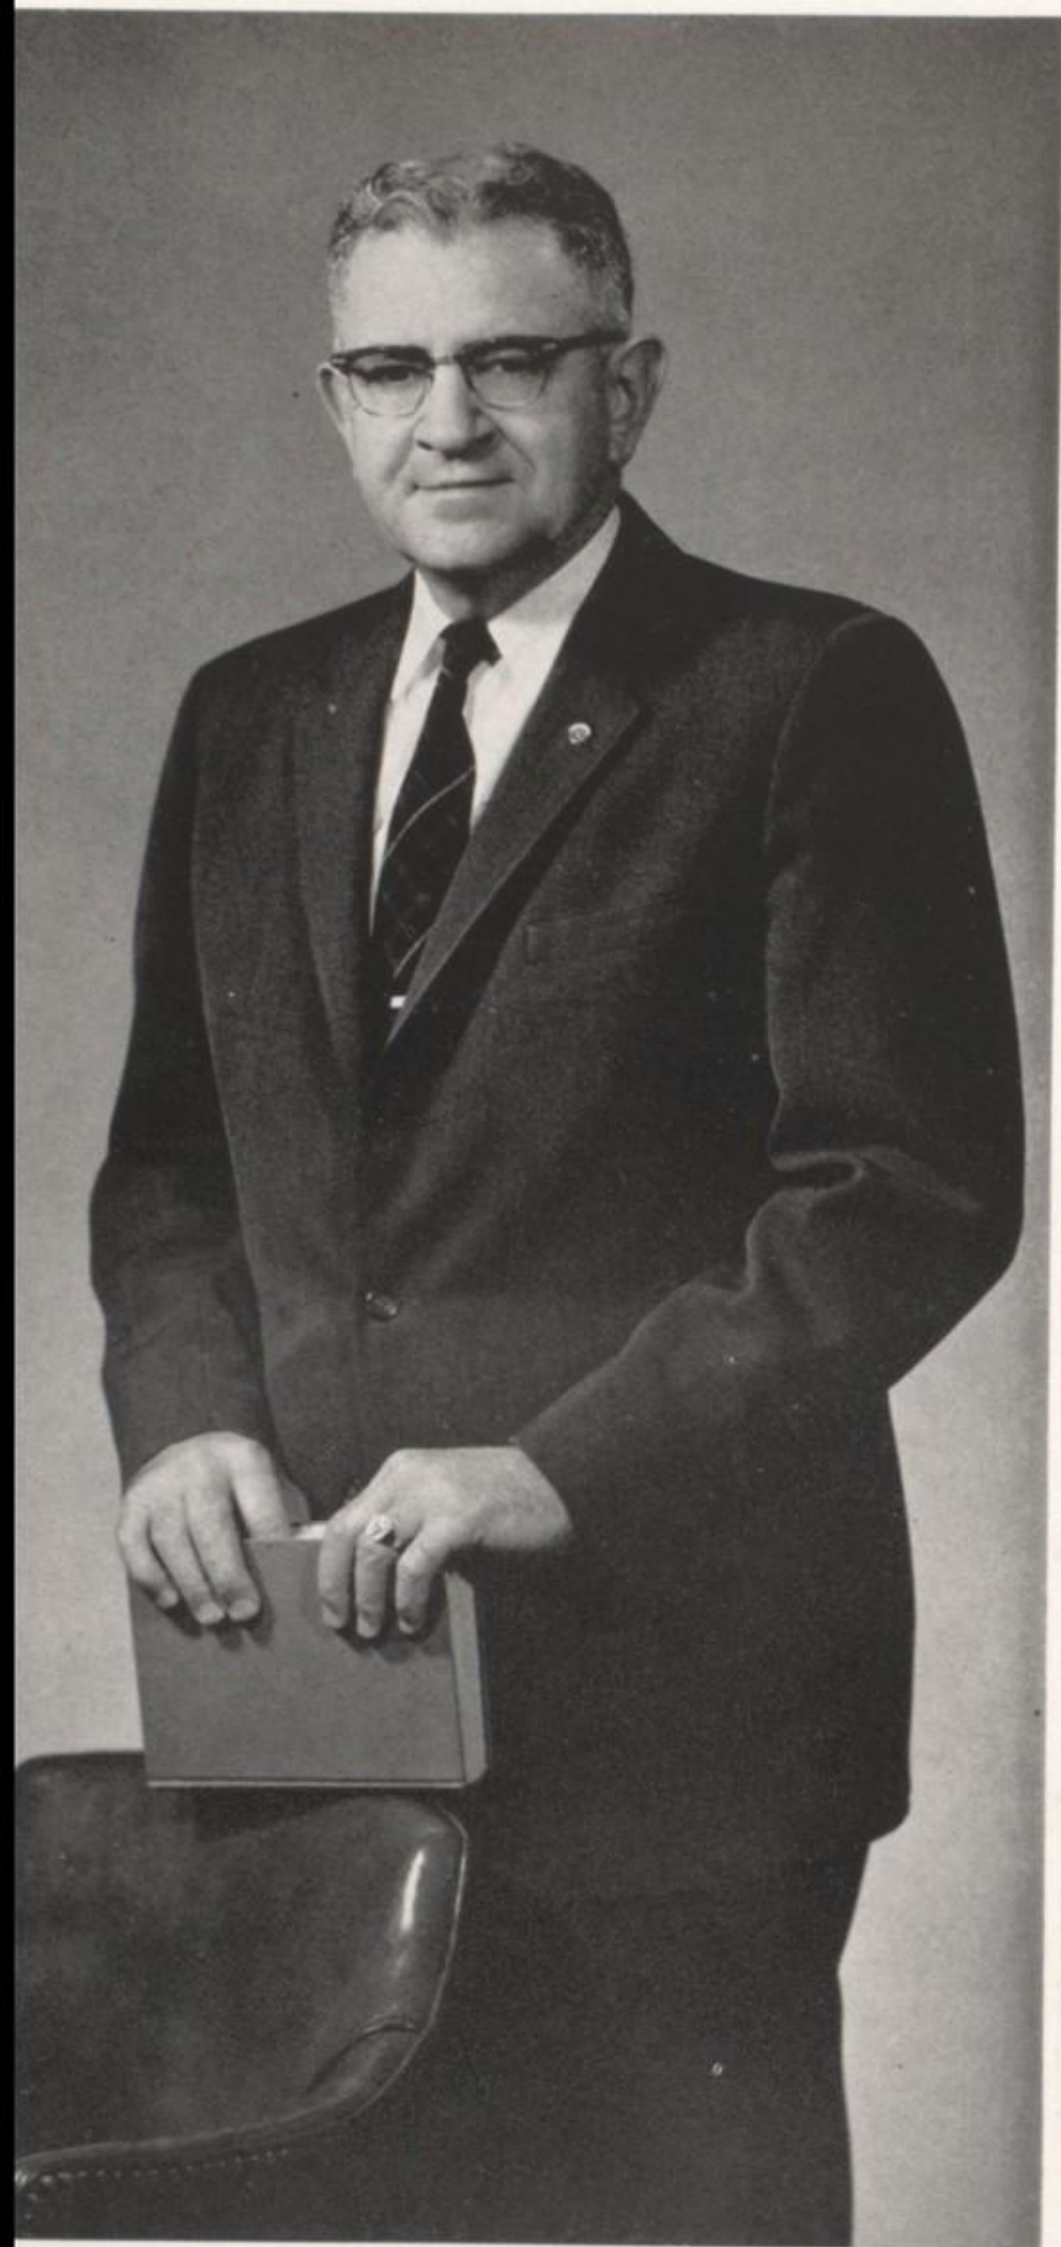

"Education is the instruction of the intellect in the laws of nature . . . not merely things and their forces, but men and their ways."

The annual staff is to be commended for its efforts to present pictorially the work that is being done in our school by both students and faculty. Herein are portrayed the experiences available during the four-year program which give each student an opportunity to develop to the fullest in the area of his chief interest, as well as to gain a thorough basic knowledge necessary for all future endeavors.

The degree of success that is attained will depend upon the desire shown, effort expended, responsibility assumed, and our ability as students and faculty to work together as a team.

In-service training is planned for the faculty during the school year. Dr. Lucille Gustafson of Akron Buchtel High School presents its advanced placement program.

DEVOTION TO SERVICE

I would commend to each of you a devotion to service and love of mankind. K. Gibran said it so beautifully in his book, The Prophet:

"And I say that life is indeed darkness save when there is urge,

And all urge is blind save when there is knowledge,

And all knowledge is vain save when there is work,

And all work is empty save when there is love,

And when you work with love you bind yourself to yourself, and to one another, and to God."

EDUCATIONAL GUIDANCE PLAYS AN ACTIVE

The guidance department, a fairly new part of our school system, has been enlarged throughout the past five years to become a great asset in our school program. Under the department come the vocational guidance and personal problems of organization and school procedure. It promotes good behavior and study habits, aptitudes, and the meaning of testing programs. This recent field is part of a federal government training program which endorses guidance institutes throughout the nation.

Mr. Armstrong, head of our guidance department, is a part of this vast network of instructors through whom students may receive necessary information in the form of classroom discussion, group assemblies, and private conferences. The purposes of the department are many. New educational problems arise which lead to adjustments in school curriculum. New vocational opportunities are discovered, resulting in additional requirements to be met. These are the responsibility of this division of our school.

Mrs. Berkebile guides her freshman class as she discusses the High School Student Handbook.

Assisting Mr. Armstrong in this vast range of duty are Mrs. Berkebile and Mr. Martin, along with the senior class advisors. Their counseling is devoted mainly to the freshmen as they begin their high school program and to the seniors as they search for a future in a vocation or in further education.

Mr. Martin takes time to give individual guidance to his students.

Quality education demands a good school library.

ROLE IN EVERY STUDENT'S FUTURE

Central to the operation of the educational program is the library and its resources. The rapidly increasing book, magazine, filmstrip, recording, and vertical file collections provide enrichment for each department in the secondary school program. The sincere cooperation of the faculty with the librarian in the building of these collections fosters a greater demand for every new entry.

Students are privileged to use the more than 5,000 volumes before school, during the noon period, and after school, in addition to the eight scheduled periods. This freedom accounts for the heavy circulation of both fiction and non-fiction titles.

The pleasant atmosphere of the reading room is conducive to research and study, thus contributing to growth and development of youth in independent thinking and in a life-time habit of library usage.

APPLICATION OF TRAINING PRODUCES

The commercial course offers an opportunity for the development of skill in the use of business machines.

The commercial department offers courses of immediate economic value. Upon graduation from this department, one is fitted for secretarial positions in all areas of the industrial and professional world. Opportunities range from general clerical and personal secretarial to research secretarial positions. The graduate of this department may continue formal education in college, thus preparing to teach commercial courses or to train further as a more specialized executive secretary in the field of the chosen career.

The intensive study in this department gives the participant a thorough grounding in such secretarial and clerical fields as dictation, transcription, business forms, research, filing, and the efficient use of business machines.

Research and the development of reports is one of the many areas studied by the commercial student.

Distributive education combines classroom instruction with work experience.

Distributive education is a vocational training program in which school and business cooperate to provide specialized training for seniors who are considering a career in business. One of the program's main objectives is to help students make the adjustment from high school life to that which follows graduation, whether it is full-time employment or college.

IMMEDIATE ECONOMIC VALUE

Through the windshield of this driver's training car, one sees Bob McElwee, Bonnie Fiedorek, and Jane Andrews, three of the 109 students enrolled in the driver's education course during the current year. Traffic lights, stop signs, and basic rules of the highway had little meaning to these young people until they entered the course under the direction of Mr. MacDonald and Mr. Martin. Following their mastery of instruction in the text and at the wheel, they are eligible to take the driver's license test given by the State Highway Patrol.

EDUCATION IS A

"The world stands out on either side . . ." and Hoover students are busy learning to understand the people of all lands.

Before learning a foreign language, all students are required to obtain a firm foundation in the speaking, writing, literature, and grammar of English. Thus the experience gained in the English department is varied. The wide range of material covered includes the study of correct techniques of grammar and their application in the writing of themes. The literature program ranges from Chaucer and Shakespeare to Shaw and Steinbeck; from Milton to Sandburg, and from Poe to Saroyan.

LANGUAGE FOR ALL

After acquiring a knowledge of their native language, Hoover linguists may pursue courses in foreign languages. Jane Ellen Harrison once said, "Language is as much an art . . . as painting or music or literature." Thus the language department offers three additional language courses—Latin, French, German.

In the individual classes the course of study covers the customs, folkways, and the history of the country whose language is being learned, in addition to the mechanics of grammar. Records and films are often used to aid understanding.

If a pupil elects to study more than one foreign language, he is urged to study Latin first, for it forms an excellent basis on which to build toward the modern languages of French and German.

The department is looking ahead to the day when it will initiate third year courses for all levels of language. Hoover High School language instructors seek to improve world communication through destroying the language barrier.

EDUCATION BUILDS THE HOMES OF THE FUTURE

Homemaking begins with individuals. To these add family life, children, and relationships; season with foods, health, housing, management, and clothing, and one has the ingredients for the well-rounded home economics program offered at Hoover.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Sheila Marquardt, the home economics department offers sewing, with modeling often included, to the freshmen and sophomores; home nursing to the juniors; and marriage and family living to the seniors.

Mrs. Georgia Artzner heads the cooking and baking department in the fully equipped kitchen containing six ranges, one refrigerator, a washer and dryer, and one dishwasher. Through the teachings of Mrs. Artzner, home economics students learn the stages of child development and the techniques of meal- and diet-planning, serving, cake decorating, meat preparation, holiday and outdoor cooking, and interior decorating.

THE STUDY OF MATHEMATICS TEACHES REASONING

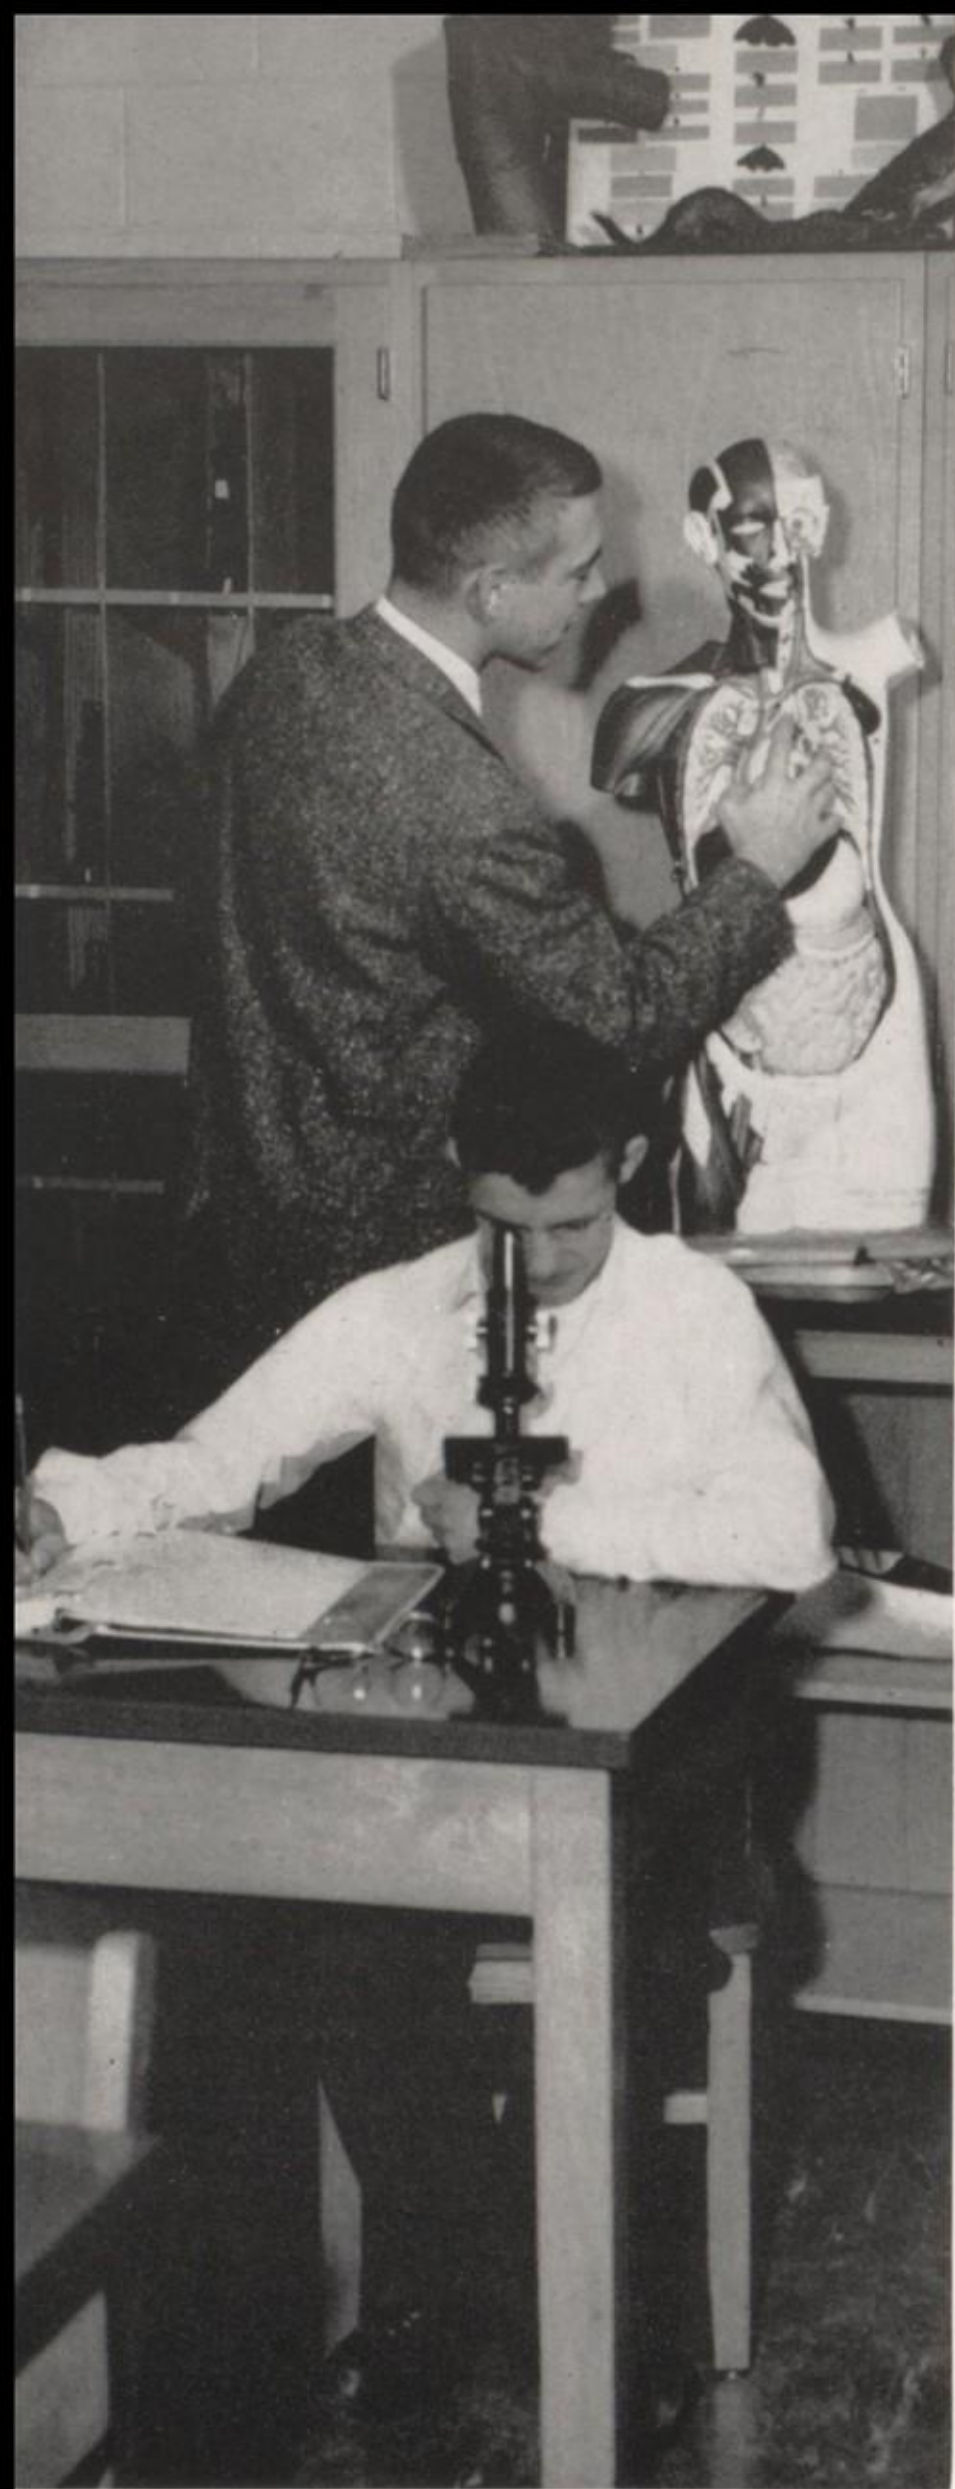

Mr. LaHue solves a problem

The mathematics department of Hoover High School makes available to its students many and varied courses of study. It encompasses the basic phases of mathematics and is a vital part of every curriculum.

General and shop math give a good background in arithmetic and applied problems.

Algebra I is the typical mathematics course for the college preparatory freshman. It lays the groundwork for more advanced study. Plane geometry, which is usually taken during the sophomore year, offers an opportunity for improving one's reasoning. Solid geometry and Algebra II, junior subjects, present still greater challenges in both reasoning and calculating. Mathematics courses available to seniors are trigonometry and college algebra, which establish a thorough understanding for the college-bound student.

Builds the Scientists of Tomorrow

Chemistry lab offers challenges in accurate experimentation.

Since Plato opened the doors of his school for teachers in ancient Athens with the reservation that "no one ignorant of geometry enter," educators have been racing to keep informed in the world of science. The instructors of this department in Hoover High School are ever aware of the constant advances within the field. Their alertness gives the participating student every opportunity to prepare a foundation for advanced scientific study in institutions of higher learning.

As a freshman, the student receives a basic introduction into the world of science. The sophomore biology student learns by means of dissections, microscopes, and specimens. An opportunity for personal experimentation is offered to the junior chemistry student. The displaying and judging of the chemistry projects is one of the high points of the year, and one in which creative talent abounds. Two courses in physics are available to the senior, PSSC physics and senior science. The fundamentals of theoretical physics are covered in the former, while knowledge of a wider, more technical nature is made available in the latter. Both offer a real academic challenge.

Movies and filmstrips provide an excellent opportunity to learn, and they are used in all the sciences. Many of the experiments and topics in PSSC physics are demonstrated in class through the use of movies produced by the Physical Science Study Committee.

With all these opportunities, we must do our best, and "enter to learn, depart to serve."

Education Is A Preparation for Future Occupations,

Education means growing, and the Hoover High School industrial arts department is doing just that. To aid the students enrolled in the regular courses of mechanical drawing, wood-working, metalworking, shop math, and printing, the shop has added a new machine this year.

The model 1250 Multilith offset machine will accelerate printing jobs. Next year the department will be able to handle more students at one time because of a four-student bench or cabinet used for holding job cases, type cases, and spacers. Additional equipment is being considered for the future, such as a camera for copy work.

All these advancements make possible more diversified educational experience.

The lathe is an important tool of the industrial arts department.

The social science department is made up of three subjects, at least two of which are taken by every Hoover student.

World history, a sophomore subject, gives a broad picture of the development of the complex and complicated world of today with its many different cultures and religions from its beginnings in caves and crude huts thousands of years ago. American history, a junior subject, is vital to all in that it teaches everyone to appreciate his heritage and America's prominence in the world today. American government, a traditional course for seniors, is a good example of learning by doing as well as by studying. Elections, held in the fall; Senior Day, a tradition here at Hoover; trips to city council meetings; and other excursions allow seniors to see and be government in action.

New voting methods demonstrate democracy in action.

Education Provides Enrichment

The crisp cadence of a spirited march, the serenely flowing measures of a choral hymn—these afford inspiration not only for the listener, but also for the performer. The cooperation and teamwork necessary in mature living are reflected in the harmony achieved when sounds of voices and instruments are coordinated. In a choir, band, or orchestra, a student can gain an appreciation of the art of music as well as learn to develop talent.

The formation of a pyramid demonstrates gymnastic skill and the ability to work together taught in girls' physical education.

Ever since the Anglo-Saxons cheered for Beowulf in his fight against the monster, people have been applauding feats of strength. However, the reason that physical education is taught at Hoover is not to produce teenagers of Herculean strength, but is to develop the good health and physical fitness which are essential for an individual's success in whatever course he pursues as his life's work. To accomplish this goal, Hoover's teachers have modernized and broadened their horizons to make this job meaningful to modern youth.

And Good Health for Hoover Students

Wrestling, one of many sports available in boys' physical education, develops skill and coordination.

RECOGNITION COMES IN MANY FORMS

The National Merit semi-finalists from Hoover High School are Carolyn Andrews, Larry Kolp, Sally Deibel.

Seventeen students have been chosen for senior class recognition as representative of academic and activity leaders. The field of science is the main interest of Dave Sannes, Kenneth Roberts, Dick Wettach, and Jim Currie. Larry Kolp, Sandy Shelly, and Carol Currie combine their scholarship with music ability. Carolyn Andrews, Sally Deibel, and Marcella Kerr illustrate Hoover's high academic standards. Emily Swope, Jim Castle, Steve Lohr, Sue Sanderson, and Carolyn Miller show a fine balance of activity and scholarship. Sherry Shuck represents specialists in commerce and Judy Koestner, the speech department.

Buckeye Girls' State and Boys' State offer wonderful opportunities for high school students to study government in action. Delegates from schools all over Ohio meet to plan, organize, and execute state, county, and city governmental operations. Boys' State was held June 9-18 at Ohio University in Athens, Ohio. The National Merit Scholarship Corporation represents various business corporations which provide funds for scholarships to qualifying students. The main function of the National Merit program is to select the recipients of these scholarships. These winners are taken from the highest scorers of each state. Many factors are considered before awarding a scholarship, some of these varying in individual cases. Qualifications which may be considered are ability, financial need, locality, place of parent's employment, and additional specific requirements from each firm.

The program serves the participants in two ways: in this time of testing, it gives experience in the fields of English, mathematics, social studies, natural sciences, and vocabulary; it also has guidance values in pointing out the strengths and weaknesses of the student.

These students are representative of the leaders of the class of 1961.

and the offices to which they were elected are as follows: Kenneth Roberts, county sheriff; Jim Krichbaum, president of city council; Dave Sannes, vice-president of the bank. Capital University was host to the Girls' Staters for the week of June 18-26. Both Emily Swope and Carol Currie served in the House of Representatives, while Sally Deibel was elected to a Senate post.

The American Legion sponsored the three boys and the Legion Auxiliary, P.T.A., and Women's Club each sponsored one girl.

TO DESERVING YOUNG MEN AND WOMEN

Hoover High's famed school spirit begins in the pride both students and faculty have in the varied achievements of Hoover students. Representative of the talent that is the end result of student effort and interest among the underclassmen are these students:

Pamela Marrell and Carol Lindenburg have become published writers in literary magazines within the last year. John Hoebel, Andrea Mangold, Carl Martin, Marsha Matson, and Janet Kearns embody the high standards of scholarship for which Hoover is noted. Jodie Joliet combines music with scholarship, and sportsmen Gary Anderson and Dick Snyder contribute to the athletic department while staying high in their academic courses.

Of the scholarship team that went to Akron this year, eight members won special commendation in the state. Honorable mention went to Jane Andrews in English 10, Jerry Eck in general science, Ken Roberts in chemistry, and Roger Kolp in Algebra I. Garry Leed won tenth in the state in general science and Richard Wettach won sixth in chemistry in the Division I schools participating.

In English, Betts Abel and Marcella Kerr placed not only in their division in the state, but also in a special division for outstanding students regardless of classification, where Betts ranked tenth in English 9 and Marcella won first in English 11.

They represent the many underclassmen who embody the high standards of Hoover in both activities and school work.

THE BOOSTER CLUB SPARKS ENTHUSIASM

Booster Club officers: Dave Kile, Royana Lampman, Val Begert, Peggy Olney, and varsity cheerleaders Carol Wood, Sue Sanderson, Dee Dee Wise, Helen Smith, Karen Booth.

The Hoover High School Booster Club has just completed its first year of existence. To arouse more school spirit, our vivacious cheerleaders took it upon themselves to organize this club with Mr. Armstrong as the advisor. Representatives were elected from each homeroom to membership in the Booster Club Council. These representatives helped plan and organize the activities sponsored by the club, whose total membership now stands at 358.

Its main objectives are to create a good school spirit and to back our teams one hundred per cent. Besides sponsoring the buses to "away" activities, the Booster Club gives an "annual-signing" party at the end of the school year. During basketball season, the Booster Club formed a card section composed of any members wishing to participate.

The Booster Club cheering section was organized this year under the direction of Mr. Armstrong.

QUEENS REIGN

Carolyn Miller, head majorette, reigned over "Mystic Moments," the 1961 band prom. She was attended by Sue Vogel, freshman; Glyn Warstler, sophomore; Kathy Whitman, junior; and Valerie Begert, senior. The queen and her attendants were selected by the members of the band.

Highlighting the evening of the Holli-Ball was the crowning of the queen, Royana Lampman, by Bud Swope. The theme for the dance, held at the Community Building, was "Wonderland by Night." A combo headed by Frank Corbi provided mellow music for dancing.

ROYANA LAMPMAN

CAROLYN MILLER

Barbara Button reigned as track queen for 1960 at the Wooster Relays. Because of her radiant personality, winning smile, and over-all friendliness, the boys on the track team selected her to represent them. Following the relays, Barb presented trophies to the winning teams represented in the tournament.

BARBARA BUTTON

Dee Dee smiles radiantly after being crowned by last year's queen, Barbara Randall. Her escort was senior Jan Sigelmier.

At Hoover High School, homecoming is an event steeped in tradition. The action-packed football game, the fragrance of the chrysanthemums, the brilliancy of the orange and the black, the radiant smiles of the queen and her court—each of these is a tradition in itself.

Homecoming, 1960, will always remain in the minds of those who experienced the colorful event. Across the years there will be lasting memories—the joyous parade which the band led to the stadium, the cheerleaders with their pertness and pep, the crowning of the homecoming court to the tune of "Oh, You Beautiful Doll" at the pre-game ceremonies.

There will be memories, too, of the thrill as the "Viking 11" surged to a 36-20 victory over the Lehman Polar Bears. All this occurred before 4,000 cheering spectators, many of them alumni who had come home to visit friends and review the highlights of their school days.

School Spirit Runs High Homecoming Weekend

The Community Building was the scene of festive events during the homecoming weekend. Following the game Friday, an informal dance was held there. Saturday night, the Senior Tri-Hi-Y set the scene for a more gala affair whose theme was "Autumn Dreams."

There homage was again paid to our Viking royalty midst the splendor of autumn leaves, cornhusks, and other fall foliage, as they were presented footballs signed by members of the team.

Excitement is at fever pitch during the entire game.

"SEA DREAMS," THE 1960 PROM, WAS A MEMORABLE EVENING

1960 is to be remembered as the first year the junior class chose to select the high school auditorium as the scene of the Junior-Senior Prom. Transformed magically by the imagination of the decoration committee, the auditorium was a fragile, misty "Sea Dream." Dancing to the music of the Dick Stevens orchestra, Hoover juniors and seniors enjoyed one of the highlights of their high school years. Following the main activity, there was an after-prom party at the Canton YWCA. Cokes and pizza, bowling, swimming, ping-pong, and dancing were enjoyed by Hooverites.

Barbara Williams was crowned queen during intermission of the 1960 prom by the junior class president, Dan Pontius. A buffet table was served throughout the evening by sophomore girls. Careful and intense planning by the junior class produced an evening long to be remembered by all who attended.

Dramatics Students Gain Experience In Self-Expression

*"The world's a theatre, the earth a stage,
Which God and Nature do with actors fill."*

THOMAS HEYWOOD.

This year approximately 150 students found enjoyment and fulfillment through self-expression by participating in Hoover High's dramatics activities, which included three one-act plays and a three-act play.

Under the direction of Mrs. Dougherty, students not only acted in the productions but also provided the scenery, the props, the costumes, the make-up, and the stage work.

Each production was given twice, with one performance for adults and one for the students. Audience reaction showed that the hard work was not in vain, and applause seemed ample reward for the time spent to perfect the performances.

Through their work in dramatics, students may earn membership in the National Thespian Society.

The faculty, too, presented a one-act play. Comin' Round the Mountain was enthusiastically received by a large audience.

Debaters Work Hard

"America's greatest need in a world of critical tension is an inspired younger generation gripped with determination to outwork, out-think, and outbelieve its potential foes," says Richard M. Nixon.

Debate, one of Hoover's most useful speech activities, helps to train such an enlightened younger generation. It develops creative thinking and critical evaluation through logic.

Band Members Enjoyed

The ninety-member Hoover band is active throughout the entire year. Marching season for the Viking band begins in August, when the entire band spends a week at Camp Chibiabos in Doylestown. At band camp, musicians experience blistered heels and sunburned noses, but by the end of the week have learned four football shows. During football season the band is kept busy participating in pre-game and half-time shows at home and away games. Besides performing each week at the game, the band participates in pep rallies and the homecoming parade.

Many Musical Experiences Through Rehearsals, Concerts

The Music Association sponsors Tag Day as the major money-making project of the year. Later in the year, the band also sells Christmas trees. After the last game is over, concert band begins. Each year the band presents a "thank-you" concert in appreciation for a successful Tag Day, and later a Spring Concert in April. Among the outstanding guest soloists who have performed at the Spring Concert are Harold Brausch and Don McCathren.

A high point of the year is the annual band prom, which this year was Saturday, February 25. Through their busy and varied schedule, band members show the real values of music education—responsibility and experience.

The pep band played at home basketball games throughout the season, providing accompaniment for the songs and cheers led by the cheerleaders.

Taking Part In Ensembles Brought Additional Experiences

The ensembles, made up of band and orchestra members, have a definite purpose in the instrumental music program. In these student-directed ensembles, participants gain additional experience in both playing and in sightreading. The high point of the year is contest, where the groups perform for a judge who prepares a rating and a comment sheet for each performance. The opportunity to participate in programs and church functions in North Canton is a valuable experience for all members.

Members of the B-flat clarinet quartet are Carla Gammon, Janet Hart, Carolyn Miller, and Marsha Dungan. Members of the mixed clarinet quartet are Betty Potts, Bob Schisler, Phyllis Wise, and Connie Morris.

Any present or past band member will have vivid memories of the eighth period band rehearsal, where Mr. Adams and the band worked hard to prepare the music for the concerts presented during the year.

Hoover's two clarinet quartets also enjoyed a busy year.

Few high schools in Ohio have an orchestra the size and caliber of that found in our own high school. The orchestra has been active during the entire year, rehearsing three times a week, playing several Sunday afternoon concerts and presenting a Monday evening open rehearsal for the Music Association. It participated in the annual operetta, a combined vocal and instrumental departments project; sponsored an exchange concert with the Dover High School orchestra; and also played in baccalaureate and commencement programs. Members of the orchestra participated in such ensembles as a string quartet, a woodwind quintet, and a dance band. Participants in Hoover's fifty-member orchestra became acquainted with all types of music during the year. Their repertoire included a violin concerto with concertmistress Pat Chenot as soloist; the instrumental score from H. M. S. Pinafore; an entire Dittersdorf symphony; Mozart's Overture to Marriage of Figaro; and several light numbers, such as Leroy Anderson's "Promenade" and "Blue Tango."

During an "open rehearsal," which took place at a Monday evening Music Association meeting, parents discovered some of the intricacies of orchestral playing.

The purpose of the a cappella choir is to study choral literature of all the master composers and to present enjoyable and entertaining music to the school and public during the year. Under the direction of Mr. Martin Alexander, the ninety-member a cappella choir of Hoover High School fulfilled this purpose by presenting a variety of performances. Jeanne Marang, Jody Joliet, Larry Kolp, and Tom Lawrence displayed their musical capabilities as they performed leading roles in the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta, H. M. S. Pinafore. Soon after presenting a television broadcast in Cleveland, the choir gave its annual Christmas concert for a large audience of North Cantonians. The Lenten choral concert was another of the impressives services presented by the department.

A group known as the Hoover Hi-Lows, a select double octet of outstanding choir members, gave many performances for non-school organizations. They also participated in the Christmas concert and the Spring Sing.

To give training for advanced choral work, a special chorus is formed for freshmen. By rehearsing different types of music, these students receive knowledge of good choral literature. This chorus performed in the Christmas concert with the other choirs, and also sang selections in the Spring Sing. The freshmen should be proud of their own choir, for it has shown definite talent this year.

The girls' glee club is a chorus of girls voices drawn from the sophomore, junior, and senior classes. This choir has enhanced choral programs this year with their performances in the Christmas concert and the Spring Sing. In the Lenten concert, they presented a difficult contemporary work, Missa Breva in D, which was written in 1959 by Benjamin Britten.

BUILDS CITIZENS FOR TOMORROW

The close of the 1960 football season rolled forth a commendable 8-1 record. This record has been equaled only once (the 1957 season) since the memorable year of the North Canton Memorial Stadium dedication in 1947 when the team was undefeated.

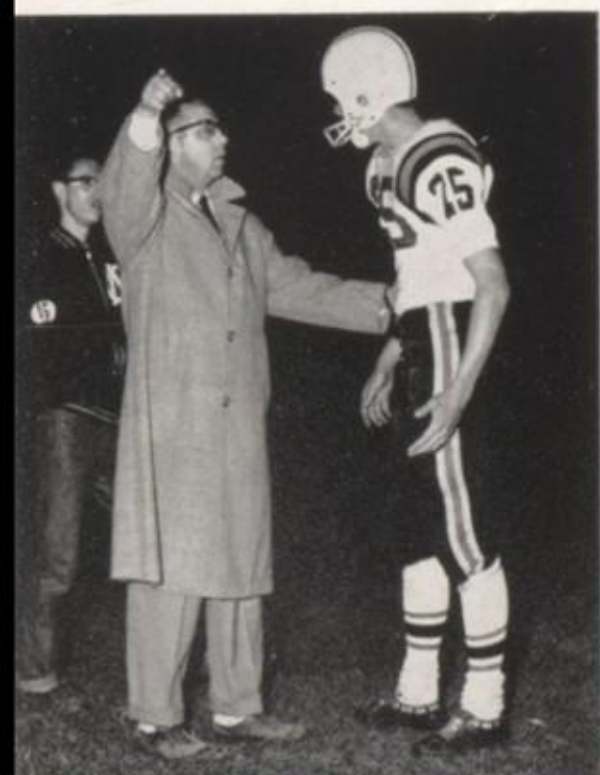

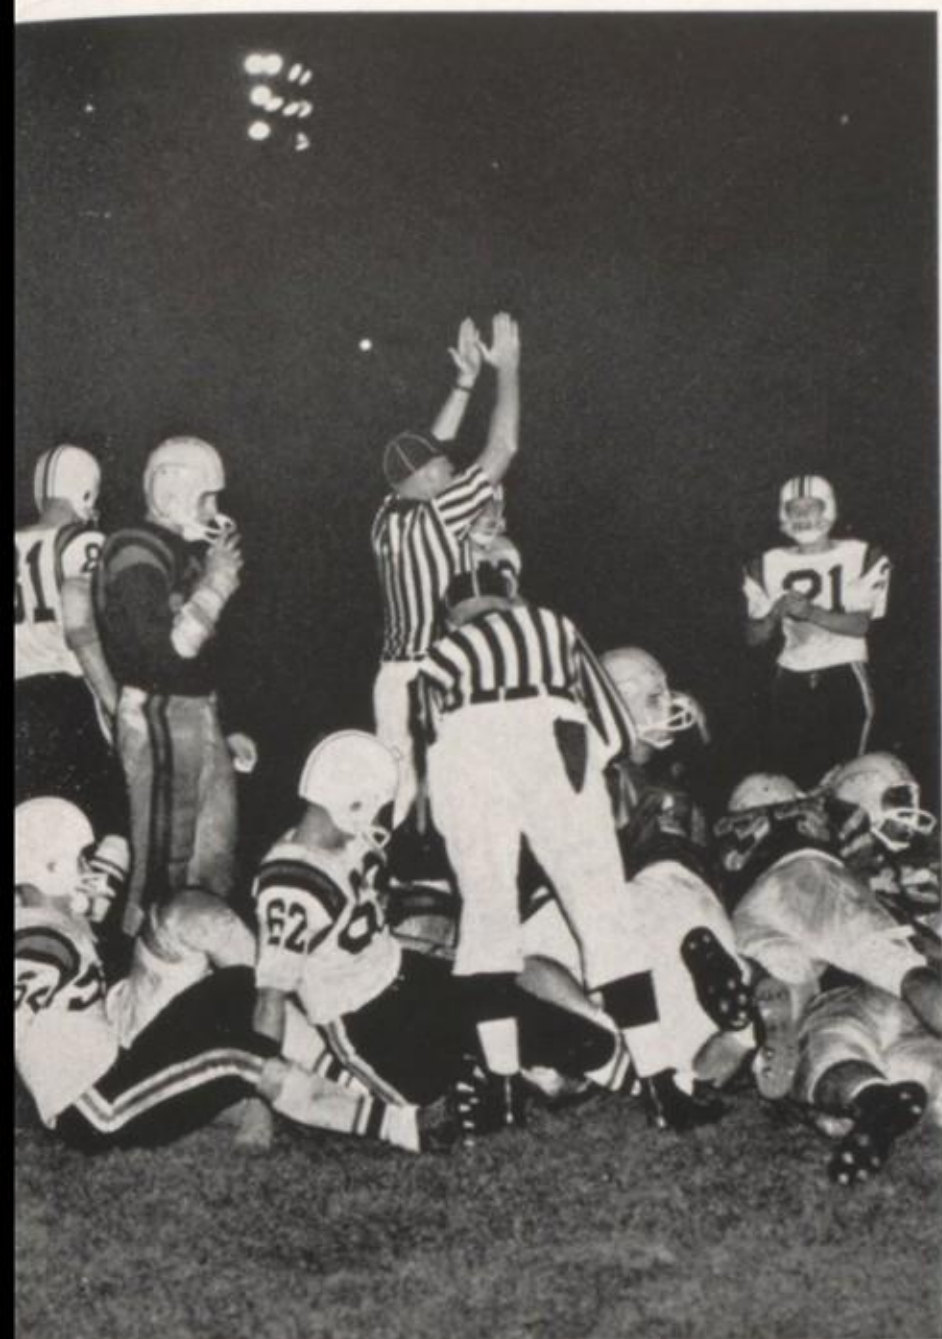

Under the able guidance of Coach Hertler and his staff, the small, inexperienced squad spent many hours of hard work to develop a team strong enough to rebuff its opponents. Its strong defense and efficient, versatile offense in passing and running surprised the opposition.

Dick Snyder, North Canton's "Mr. Football," led the Vikings' attack as quarterback and top scorer with 71 points. Though only a junior, he was outstanding as a signal caller, runner, passer, kicker, and defensive half-back. Two other juniors, Gary Anderson and Bob Esmont, rounded out the scoring attack with 50 and 54 points, respectively, and sparkled in pass receptions and defense.

Three players were named to the All-County football team. Dick Snyder and Gary Anderson were named to the first team, and Jan Sigelmier, a senior, was awarded a second-team berth.

Weeks of hard practice bring about a Viking TD, only one of many scored during the season.

Sideline action: Coach Hertler orders Gary Neuman, "Get out there and score!"

The varsity gridders of 1960 had the desire to do their best. Along with this they combined teamwork and a will to win. Their desires were well depicted during the Wooster game, when they fought until the last minute although they trailed in score. Their only loss came at the hands of the undefeated Wooster squad. Their spirit brought them through the season with eight wins and only one loss.

Two of the most exciting victories were the Lehman homecoming game and the Jackson game. For the homecoming, the Vikings gave the alumni and students a tremendous 36-20 victory over Lehman. The Vikings, with great expectations and the usual amount of desire, also met and defeated the Jackson Polar Bears, our long-time arch rivals.

Hoover's bench strength awaits call to action.

FROSH GRIDDDERS SHOW GREAT PROMISE

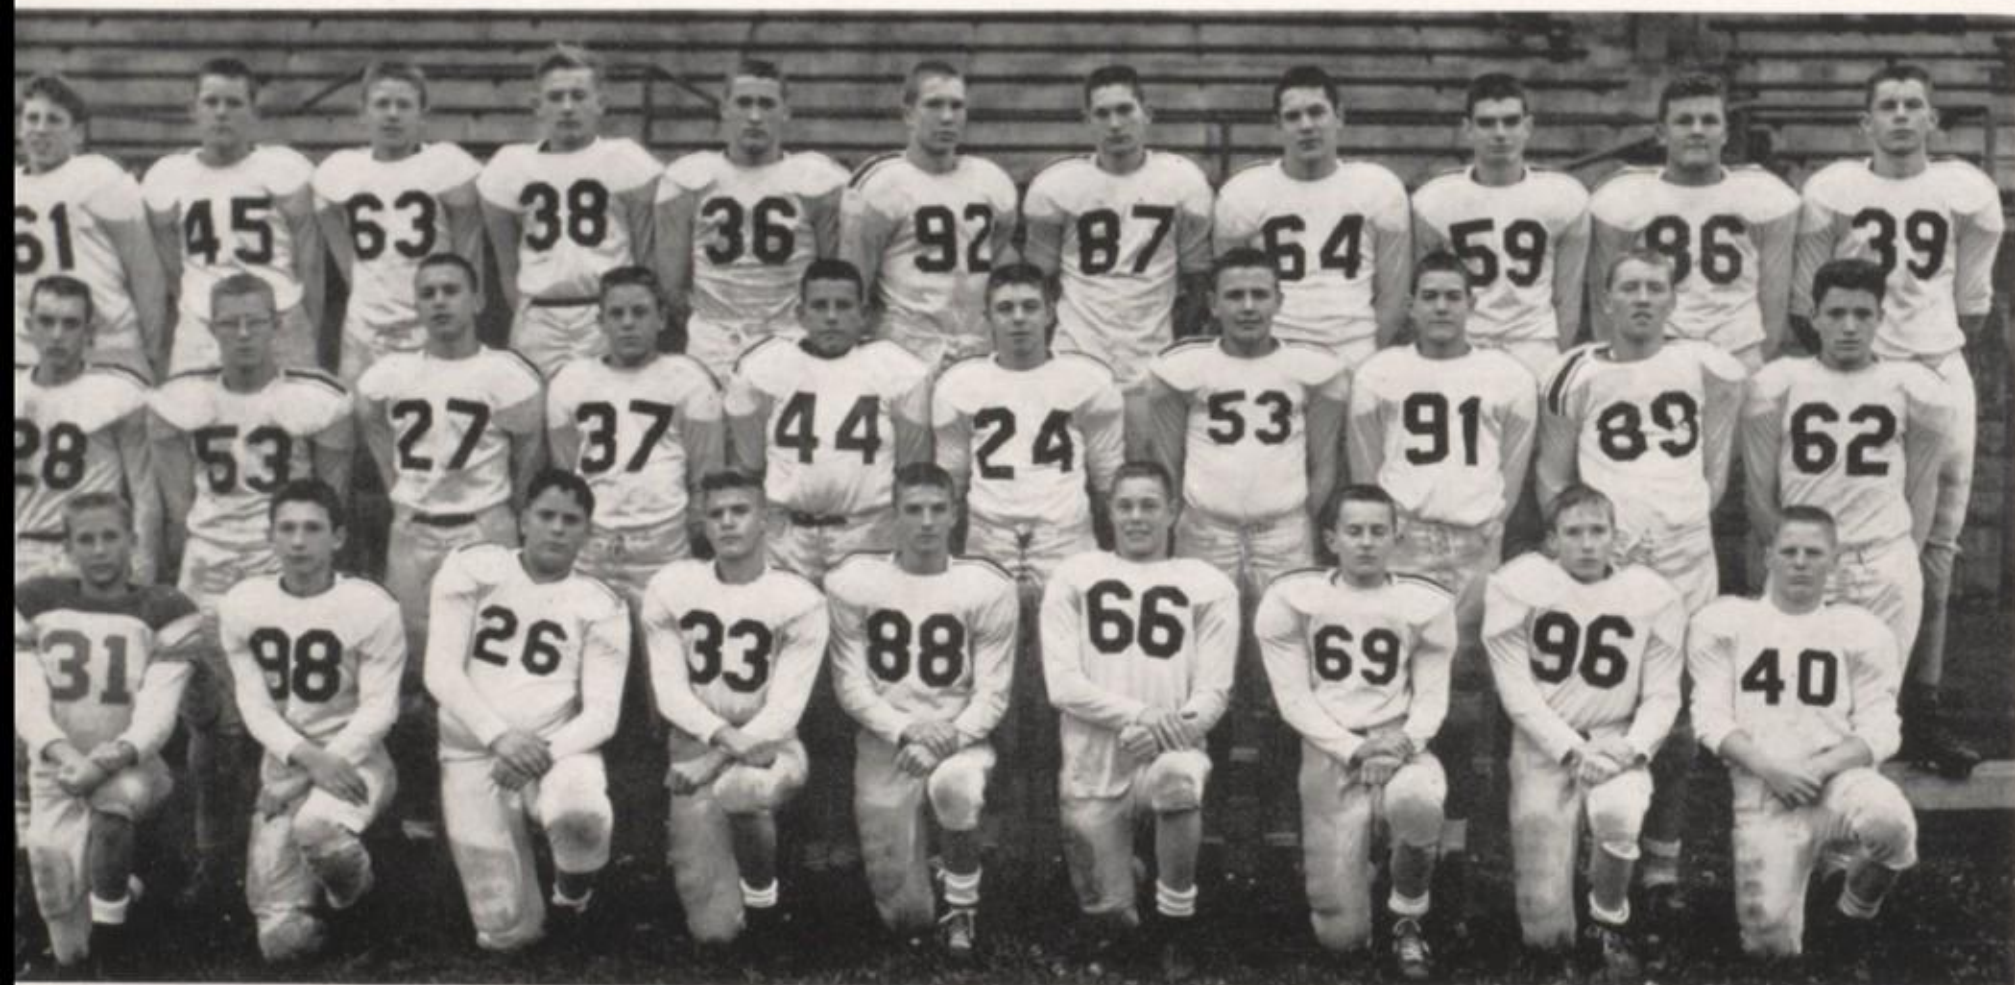

The 1960 freshman football team was a 35-member squad under the direction of coaches Gray and McDonald. Their games, which built a 3-2 record for the season, were played on Thursday afternoons.

The team was captained each week by two different players, an arrangement providing added experience in leadership for all. The training gained by those participating in this program is not only a foundation for future varsity squads and lettermen, but also is one of the most valuable experiences offered in high school for training tomorrow's citizens.

HARRIERS COMPLETE THEIR BEST SEASON

The Hoover High School cross-country team compiled its best record this year under its new name, the Harriers. The team, composed of seventeen young men, finished with a 9-6 record. The home meets were held at Arrowhead Golf Course and most of the away meets at Goodyear Metropolitan Park in Akron. The cross-country course is two miles long; therefore, endurance proves to be as important as speed.

Two records were established this year, those of Russ Dunmire, a freshman, who ran the course in 11 minutes, 18 seconds, and Paul Martin, a junior, who ran the same course in 10 minutes, 51 seconds.

With many returning underclassmen, it is anticipated that 1961 will be another successful year for the team. Expected to return as lettermen are Paul Martin, Dick Morrow, John McCleaster, Ed Piper, Mike Smith, Ted Kazleman, and Russ Dunmire. Graduating lettermen this year were seniors David Kile, Jim Bodendorfer, and Gary Baughman.

Harriers warm up prior to the two-mile run at a meet.

Success Is Accomplished by Players, Fans, and Coaches

The North Canton Hoover High Vikings, coached by Mr. Don Martin, finished the basketball season with an 11-10 record. The Vikings built a nucleus around Dick Snyder, a 6' 3" junior center. Dick was the only returning letterman and did a magnificent job of leading the team. Since the boys were inexperienced in varsity competition, they had a rough time getting started, but by the middle of the season a starting five had been established and the Vikings returned to their tradition of success. By tournament time they were a greatly improved team. After gaining two tournament victories over Perry and Central Catholic, they dropped a close 48-46 decision to the top-seeded team of the tournament, Lincoln. The Vikings never gave up. The fans will never forget that game—they will always be proud of the school and team effort throughout this cage season.

Again this year the Vikings relied upon a 1-2-2 zone defense. It proved successful, as the Vikings led the major county teams in defense. After disappointing results with the 2-2-1 offense, the team found success with a potent 1-3-1 offense. The Vikings were as big as most of the teams they played. The rebounds were controlled throughout the year by seniors Dick Achberger and Jim Castle and by juniors Dick Snyder, Gary Anderson, and Dick Morrow. With the experience gained this year and the possibility of six returning lettermen, the 1961-62 Vikings should rise to great heights.

TEAMWORK . . .

Jump, Dick, jump!

The 1960-61 cage season produced many exciting and close games for the Vikings. With a few breaks here and there, the Vikings' record would have been a more accurate representation of the fine team.

The team was led in scoring by co-captains Dick Snyder and Gary Anderson and senior Dick Achberger. The other two regulars of the starting quintet were Dick Morrow and Bob Esmont. Dick Snyder led all other players in the major county schools in scoring with 339 points and an 18.8-point average. Dick showed his great ability by shooting 59 per cent from the field and 67 per cent from the foul line. In his greatest output, he scored 35 points against Marlinton. At the close of the season, Dick was awarded a first team position on the All-County team.

The other great achievement of the year was twice burying Jackson, North Canton's number one rival. Special recognition is due Ted Kazleman, who, because of a head injury, was forced to sit out most of the season.

Snyder's soft touch bags two more.

The Viking bench—full of concern.

The objective of the Vikings' potent offense—putting the ball through the hoop.

This year's reserve squad, composed of thirteen sophomores, finished its season with an 11-7 record. The boys were quick to learn and played aggressive ball throughout the year. The starting quintet was composed of Mike Keyes, Ed Piper, Lee Snyder, Gary Neuman, and Larry Stortz. Stortz, a 6' 6" center, was the tallest player in Stark County. These thirteen boys show great promise for the Vikings' varsity squad in future years.

The freshman basketball team, coached by Mr. Ed Locy, finished its season with a commendable 11-7 record. The eight regular cagers were Dick Sanderson, Denny Anderson, Jim Hargrove, Bill Gaumer, Bill Bortz, John Christiansen, Bill Peters, and Tom Artzner. Although the team was well balanced, Dick Sanderson emerged as the outstanding scorer. These boys showed a lot of desire and hustle and should obtain very high goals in future years.

The members of the wrestling team had little previous experience, but throughout the season showed spirit, ability, and good sportsmanship. One senior, Dave Kile, made a good showing for the squad by going undefeated in dual meets. The Hoover High baseball team finished the 1960 season with an 11-6 record. The team is under the guidance of Mr. Don Hertler, varsity coach, and Mr. Gordon Knisely, reserve coach.

The outstanding event was a no-hitter which Dick Snyder threw against Alliance. Dick led the hurlers with a 5-1 pitching record and 57 strikeouts. Dick Achberger also had a successful year on the mound with a 4-1 record. Behind the powerful batting of Dale Stevens and Gary Gamrath, hitting .473 and .322, respectively, the Vikings conquered many foes.

The 1960 track team boasted a record of six wins and two losses. The Viking cindermen were spurred on by two outstanding milers, Ted Kazleman and Brian Gardner. An excellent mile relay team consisting of Ted Kazleman, Curt Neuman, Gene French, and Jerry Eck also merits honors. The home meets, as well as the district and invitational contests, were held on the cinder track at North Canton Memorial Stadium.

Under the commendable coaching of Dan Stoica, the Hoover golf team turned in an excellent season. Led by Evan Schiltz, a junior, the golfers captured 21 victories while dropping only three matches. The only returning lettermen from the 1960 season were Evan Schiltz and David Sannes. The Hoover golfers scored their home wins on the Edgewood course.

INTRAMURAL PROGRAM

The intramural program is designed to give an opportunity for boys not participating in varsity, reserve, or freshman team competition to take an active part in athletics. The teams participating in the series of basketball games are named for colors.

The members of the winning Purple team were Gareth Rich, Randy Beavers, Jack Lemmon, Dwayne Miller, and Vernon Troyer. The high scorer through the season was Bill Moser of the Black team with 94 points. In second place was Evan Shiltz of the Blue team with 85 points.

This year's spirit among the boys was outstanding.

Girls Are Educated Through Sports by G. A. A.

The Girls' Athletic Association during the past year was under the supervision of Miss Helen Lemmon, physical education instructor at Hoover High School. A well-rounded program was coordinated by the G.A.A. officers and the Hoover Girls' Leaders Club. The program featured intramural competitive sports, including basketball, volleyball, softball, and badminton.

The intramural playdays and competition with faculty members proved to be the highlights of the year.

The association's sports offered the high school girls an opportunity to actively participate in numerous recreational activities. These meetings provided a welcome means of relaxation for the girls and a release for their pent-up energies.

Compliments of . . . BAAB'S SERVICE

During the past summer, Hoover's five bouncy varsity cheerleaders attended a camp in Michigan. The cheerleading camp was under the direction of the women's physical education director at Michigan State University, while MSU's varsity cheerleaders acted as staff personnel. The experience proved both enjoyable and beneficial. The girls were instructed in new ideas for bettering pep rallies and encouraging school spirit as well as in ways for improving their own abilities. They returned to North Canton bubbling over with enthusiasm and ideas for peppy new cheers.

They are outgoing, friendly, and loyal. Through their efforts, Viking fans have not only attended the games, but have also shown good sportsmanship and real enthusiasm for our teams. The girls have made their long, hard hours of practice pay off, and have become one of the outstanding groups of "pep makers" in the school's history.

Assisting the varsity are the reserve and freshman cheerleaders under the direction of the varsity girls. One of their jobs was to help the varsity cheerleaders plan the pep rallies and create spirit in the school. They also inspired the reserve and freshman teams throughout the year.

Student Council Is the Student Governing Body of Hoover High School

The Student Council is the governing power of the students themselves. It is comprised of home room representatives from all classes. In addition to their usefulness, the council members learn much from this experience in representative government.

Knowledge Is the Stepping Stone to Success

The letters C S L S on the pin of the National Honor Society represent character, scholarship, leadership, and service. These attributes form a basis on which can be built a truly successful life.

The above qualities form the basis upon which the National Honor Society inducts its members each year. Since no other recognition presented by the school excels the honor of election to NHS, the entire faculty carefully evaluates and selects new members.

Under the direction of Mrs. Jean Arndt, faculty committee chairman, the members of the society held the annual induction service before the entire student body. The president, Kenneth Roberts, presented the names of the thirty-five new members who were received at this February induction.

Participating in the program were five National Honor members who explained the meaning of the society. Dan Pontius revealed the meaning of the emblem, and Carol Currie, Dave Sannes, Carolyn Miller, and Sally Deibel spoke on the qualities of character, scholarship, leadership, and service.

Dr. Donald Starr, Dean of Malone College, was the principal speaker. He emphasized the need to "learn how to learn" for the world of today and the world of tomorrow.

Journalists Learn the Miracle of the Press as

The staff of the Viking Views, the Hoover High School newspaper publication, consists of the eighteen members of the journalism class and Mrs. Anne Berkebille, advisor.

The No-Ca-Hi-Lights, as the publication was called, was begun in 1944 under the direction of Miss Hope Bahler, the present Mrs. Hope Marquardt. The newspaper was then a mimeographed forerunner of the present Viking Views. In answer to a contest, a male student won a free season pass with the winning name, Viking Views.

In 1945, through the persuasion of Mrs. Marquardt, the Views became a printed paper. The year 1953 saw the newspaper as an eight-page edition with no masthead, only a box listing the staff. As the paper grew in significance, it began to resemble our present publication. In 1957, Mrs. Marquardt relinquished her post as advisor to Mrs. Anne Berkebille. During the years 1956-1958 the Viking Views was published as a one-page section in the local newspaper. Because of the fact that two years were lost, Volume 13 is now being printed.

Quill and Scroll is an international honor society for accomplished high school journalists. Those eligible for membership are chosen for outstanding work done in journalism and on the yearbook.

Hoover High School has held a charter in Quill and Scroll since 1940. Qualifications for membership are according to the club constitution. Members chosen must be classified as junior or senior, in the upper third of their class in scholastic standing, have done some superior and outstanding work in some school publication work, be recommended by the journalism or yearbook advisor, and be approved by the executive secretary of the society.

An installation ceremony was held in March for the members of the annual staff and the journalism class.

Members this year from the journalism class are Pat Chenot, Mary Ann Elder, Marian Hoke, Judy Koestner, Royana Lampman, Bonnie Paige, and Beryl Seiferling.

Newly chosen members from the annual staff are Carolyn Andrews, Marcella Kerr, Linda Paquin, Ken Roberts, Dave Sannes, Sandy Shelly, and Emily Swope.

Interpretative Speaking Educates Its Listeners

Judy Koestner proudly displays the trophy won for Girls' Extemporaneous Speaking in the district finals.

The National Forensic League has just one purpose—to train leaders for America's future. The activities promoted by the NFL not only assure a competence in public speaking but also demand creative thinking, a constantly growing knowledge, and a deep interest in public affairs.

The NFL sponsors three areas of speaking: debate, individual events, and student congress. In debate, a student learns to reason logically. A student congress offers debaters an opportunity to think creatively about national problems. Individual events are divided into dramatic declamation, humorous declamation, oratory, and extemporaneous speaking. Declamation builds appreciation of oral interpretation while oratory provides an opportunity for the student to advocate a principle in which he believes. Extemporaneous speaking requires knowledge, for the extemper must be ready to speak on any current subject.

Denise Carlisle, Ann Gilbert, Pam Marrell, and Betts Abel represent Hoover in declamation, while Carl Martin, Marc McFadden, Jane Andrews, Judy Koestner, Bonnie Fiedorek, and Doug Smith compete in extemp speaking. At the NFL District Contest, Judy Koestner won first place in girls' extemp speaking and fourth in the state finals, thus giving her an opportunity to attend the national finals in Pittsburgh. This is the first time in ten years that anyone from Hoover has qualified for nationals.

While Acting Entertains Its Audience

A simple but impressive service initiates new Thespian members.

According to ancient Greek history, a man called Thespis decided to take part in a celebration of thanks for the harvest by portraying the god Dionysus. It is for Thespis, this first recorded actor-playwright, that the National Thespian Society is named.

Hoover High School's Troupe 652 of this dramatics honorary obtained its national charter in October of 1960 under the sponsorship of Mrs. John Dougherty.

Thirty-eight people, including twenty-five from the student body and thirteen from the faculty, became charter members of the society at an impressive ceremony in December.

The officers of the organization—Leon Artzner, president; Beryl Seiferling, vice-president; Karen Zane, secretary; and Marcella Kerr, treasurer—aided Mrs. Dougherty in selecting the activities of the society. These included the presentation of three one-act plays and one three-act play, a trip to Cleveland, and the spring induction ceremonies.

The librarian, faculty, and administration are proud of our student librarians. They are aware of the vital role of the library in the school system and of the fact that student assistants, through efficient, conscientious work, can help to make this role possible.

Surveys show that student assistants perform ninety different duties. Their help with circulation, library housekeeping, mechanical preparation of books and other library materials, mending, care of newspapers and magazines, clerical duties, reference work, shelving books, inventory, overdues, and display work is invaluable for efficient operation of the library.

The good student assistant will be dependable, willing to accept suggestions, able to get along with and to serve others. Above all, the student will keep in mind the legitimate use of the library and its materials. The assistant's attitude can do much to create this feeling and a sense of pride for the library by the entire student body. The success or failure of the library program depends to a great extent upon their wholehearted acceptance of the responsibility.

Sandy Myers serves her classmates by locating research materials for reports and term papers.

Future Teachers Organize for Careers in Education

The profession of teaching requires dedication, understanding, desire, patience, knowledge, and many other qualities which the average student does not often consider. Through the program of the Future Teachers of America, more than fifty students hope to study these and other problems with which they may come face to face in their own teaching careers.

The club has as its purposes to explore the teaching field, including its opportunities and many areas; to cultivate leadership, character, and scholarship; to interest good students in becoming teachers; to develop the beginnings of professional attitudes; and to bring to pupils a greater understanding of the value of education in our American society.

A new organization at Hoover High School, the club already has one of the largest memberships among the school organizations. Under the sponsorship of Mrs. Berkebile, the Future Teachers made application for a national charter, making it the sixth national organization in the school.

Problems Make Education a Challenge

MU ALPHA THETA

Mathematics is a very important subject for our scientifically developing world of today, and more students are taking an interest in it than ever before. Approximately twenty Hoover students are members of Mu Alpha Theta, the national high school mathematics club.

Students who have completed four semesters of math with high averages are eligible for membership in the club.

The purpose of the club is to enrich the mathematical background of its members in areas not covered in classroom discussion. It offers a challenge to members in trying new equipment and new methods of solving difficult problems. Its members also learn of the many careers available today in the expanding field of mathematics.

Young Chemists Explore the Mysteries of the Universe

Kenn Fraleigh has mastered the art of photography and enlarging.

Elements compose the universe, and elements compose the human species; they are present in the air we breathe and in the food we eat. Without elements there would be no world and no life.

The main objective of the Chemistry Club is to give those students who show a congenial interest in chemistry an opportunity to further explore its mysteries. Advanced chemical concepts is just one of the areas studied by this organization.

Chemistry is more important than ever before, and the demand for well-trained chemists is never ending. Each year the club tours a local industry so that its members may learn of the many ways in which chemistry is related to production, and of the variety of jobs always available for both men and women in the field of chemistry.

The knowledge obtained from the club is never lost. It helps one have a better understanding of the composition of everyday materials and elements we take for granted.

Throughout the year, speakers outlined the various positions available to the commercial student in today's world of business.

Officers for the year were: Sherry Shuck, president; Sonie Strouble, vice-president; Linda Humbert, secretary; and Linda Romary, treasurer. Mrs. Olive Aldridge was advisor for the year.

Office Assistants Serve

This year's office assistants have increased in number because of the addition of the four new assistants to Mr. Richard Armstrong. Mr. Armstrong's secretaries learn office operations by being in contact with student schedules and guidance material. These aides also perform such jobs as typing for Mr. Armstrong, guidance counselor and coach.

In previous years, there have been several assistants to Miss Mabel Studer, secretary to the principal; however, this year, there is only one. In the office one learns the responsibilities of office procedure and management, which includes answering the telephone, typing, organization, neatness, and manners. Other skills learned are the operation of the mimeographer and the duplicating machine.

Mr. Don LaHue's eight attendance office assistants help him and Mrs. Valerie Tucker with the collection of the absence slips and the recording of daily attendance. In addition to these responsibilities, Mr. LaHue's assistants keep 2-A organized and in working order.

Through these three offices, assistants practice more adult relationships with faculty members.

"Hoover High School . . ." Those are the first words that an office assistant to Miss Studer learns. Demonstrating this technique is Marian Hoke.

Home Economics Club

The Home Economics Club is comprised of sixty-five members representing the freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior classes. To be eligible for membership, the girl must either be enrolled in or must have had at least one year of home economics in high school.

In 1934, the twenty-five H.E.C. girls, under the direction of Miss Mildred Evans, organized the beginning of what is now the Home Economics Club. Miss Evans continued until 1937, when Miss Helen Schleppi began teaching. Nine years later, Mrs. Sheila Marquardt became the advisor, and in 1957 Mrs. Georgia Artzner took the helm.

Through this organization, the members learn much helpful information relating to the home and family. There were speakers about flower arrangements, a pastry chef, a demonstration on lighting for the home, a hair dresser, and several other programs of educational value.

This year a new feature was home economics pins for the members. To decorate the basic pin, members were privileged to buy year and officer guards.

The fund-raising project for the year was a dance called "The George Day Sway" at which records were played by a local disc jockey. The money from the project helped finance the Mother-Daughter Banquet, which is the highlight of the year. For the banquet, several club members modeled in mock and authentic fashion shows.

Mrs. Georgia Artzner, advisor, was hostess to the Senior Farewell Party, which concluded the year's activities.

SENATUS ROMANUS DIGNITATE REGNAT

The Latin Club is a new organization at Hoover this year under the direction of Miss Mary Sharp.

Each Latin class forms a club of its own, with an officer from each individual club forming a general council of all the clubs.

Through the club, members gain a more thorough knowledge of Roman life, history and literature, and receive a better understanding of the practical and cultural aspects of Latin. The main purpose of the club is to encourage interested students to pursue further study of the language.

In addition to discussions, many interesting projects have been enjoyed by the members throughout the year. The Christmas season found the members creating their own Latin Christmas cards and singing Christmas carols in Latin. A very successful banquet was given, celebrating the birthday of Rome and Latin Week.

The club hopes to join the National Junior Classical League next year.

PRINTING PRODUCES PROGRESS

Without the invention of printing, our modern society would stand in the shadows of intelligence today. Printing is the industry which helped place us where we are today in the world, and will be one of the determining factors in where we will stand in the future.

The Printing Club of Hoover High School is a new organization this year under the direction of Mr. Stefan, the print shop teacher.

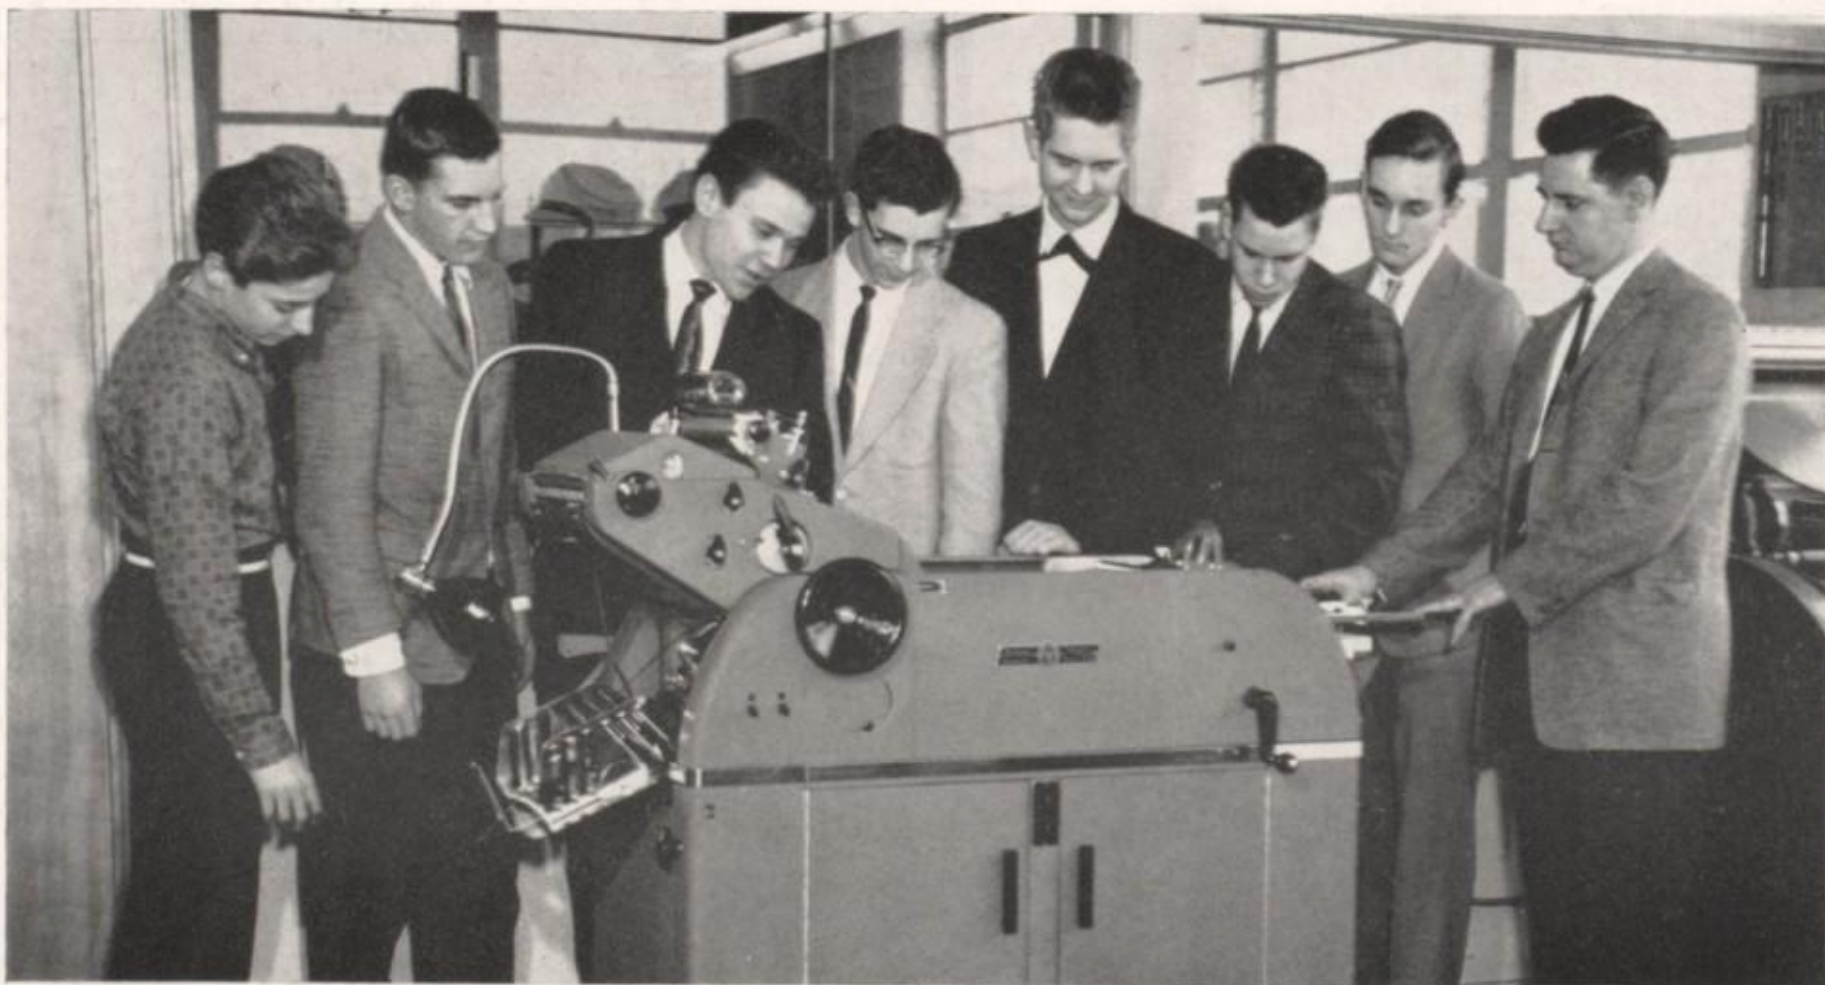

The main purpose of the club is to give recognition to those students who show an interest in printing and to foster a better understanding of the printing industry.

Funds are collected from projects which the club undertakes. These funds are used to an advantage in buying new and improved equipment to aid and improve the shop and its production.

DECA Trains Business Men and Women of Tomorrow

The Distributive Education Clubs of America is an active program organized at local, state, and national levels for distributive education students. It offers opportunities for its members to participate in social as well as business activities.

DECA has been a remarkable infant in educational acceptance. It is helping to answer the need for experienced employees and leaders for the nation's expanding economy.

Senior students in the D.E. program attend regular classes but spend part of the school day on the job, earning high school credit and gaining practical retail sales experience.

Three DECA members have done outstanding work this year. Barbara Norris, Helen Moore, and Michael Zane received top ratings at the seventeenth annual Leadership Conference of DECA, held at the Deshler Hilton Hotel in Columbus. Mike received first place in the job interview contest, while Barbara placed first in the merchandise manual contest for her manual on man-made fabrics. Helen Moore received second place for her manual on Cannon products. A merchandise manual contains information concerning a certain product or line of products, and students who compile these manuals usually choose for subjects the products they handle in their jobs.

Congratulations, Mike Zane, Barbara Norris, and Helen Moore. You have won honors.

The Future Nurses Club is open to any girl at Hoover High who has an interest in any type of medical career. Future Nurses was first organized in North Canton in 1954 and has been active ever since. The club is a project of the National Medical Auxiliary and is sponsored by the Stark County Medical Auxiliary.

Advisors for this year are Mrs. Jack Hendershot, Mrs. Clarence Smith, and Mrs. Harry Marquardt, faculty advisor. There are forty-seven members in the club and the officers are Mary Ann Elder, president; Joan Stock, vice-president; Sandra Lenarz, secretary; and Susan Hendershot, treasurer.

The club has done several service projects this year and also taken several hospital tours. The special highlight of the year is the pinning ceremony in which the new members take part.

The Red Cross Becomes An Ideal

The American High School Red Cross is an organization of people who are interested in giving service to school, community, and nation. It is affiliated with the American Red Cross and the local chapter in Canton. The Red Cross has been active for many years. This year there are approximately twenty members in the school organization. Six members from this group are members of the Canton Chapter-Wide Council; they attend meetings in Canton every month with representatives from other area schools.

Hoover's Red Cross has sponsored many activities this year. The planned and held a dance, "Autumn Fantasy," in November, and made Valentine tray favors for the hospitals. Their current project is an album about life in America to be sent to West Germany.

HI-Y's and TRI-HI-Y's Build Character

"Create, maintain, and extend . . ." With these words, the seventy boys of the Hi-Y became members of the North Canton YMCA-affiliated organization. Always striving to create, maintain, and extend Christian principles throughout the home, school, and community are the teen-age boys who comprise this youth organization.

During the 1960-1961 school year, the freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior Hi-Y's have sponsored several dances, gone swimming at the Canton YMCA, planned a Father-Son Banquet, gone bowling, and have participated in the northwestern Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y conference in Cleveland, at which they discussed world problems.

Together the clubs planned the Sno-Ball and donated to the World Service Organization, which the Y's all over the world help support. Combined, the Hi-Y's and Tri-Hi-Y's have raised enough money to erect a lighted YMCA sign in front of the Community Building.

Presidents, representing each club, form the Y-Club Council and prepare various programs.

The Y-Club Council is composed of the presidents of each club and represents the entire group of Hi-Y's and Tri-Hi-Y's.

The Tri-Hi-Y is composed of one hundred forty girls of high school age whose endeavors are much the same as those of the Hi-Y. For Thanksgiving and Christmas, the Senior Tri-Hi-Y donated food for two needy families in the North Canton area. The club also sold candy and sponsored several dances at the Community Building. During the year, the freshman, sophomore, junior, and senior clubs had speakers on topics ranging from college to interior decorating. Together, the Sophomore Hi-Y and Tri-Hi-Y discussed inter-faith dating and marriage.

A basketball game, the Basket Brawl, was played on March 17 between the girls and the boys. The high point of the year was the program Half-Note Highlights, presented April 6-7. This program featured talented teen-agers acting individually or in groups.

FRESHMEN

The freshman class, with an enrollment of 240 occupying seven home rooms, is the largest class ever to attend Hoover High. The class possesses a great deal of spirit, whether it be in participation or observation of the many school activities. The freshmen won the class competition with their stunt, "mocking the cheerleaders," and poem presented to the team before a crucial tournament basketball game.

In the magazine drive held last fall, the freshmen took top honors for Hoover, placing first among the four classes.

Under the direction of Mr. Knisely, class advisor, the class of '64 planned a picnic held this spring at the Hoover International Campsite. Assisting Mr. Knisely were Mr. Barrett, Mrs. Dougherty, Mr. Locy, Mr. Martin, Mrs. Sickafoose, and Miss Treisch, who head freshman home rooms.

The guidance department presented many speakers to the freshmen throughout the year as an aid to choosing a career. These programs will undoubtedly prove invaluable to the freshmen in future years.

SOPHOMORES

The class of '63, numbering 220, was the first class in North Canton to have over two hundred members. It is a class of scholars as well as athletes and is proud of its excellent records in both these fields.

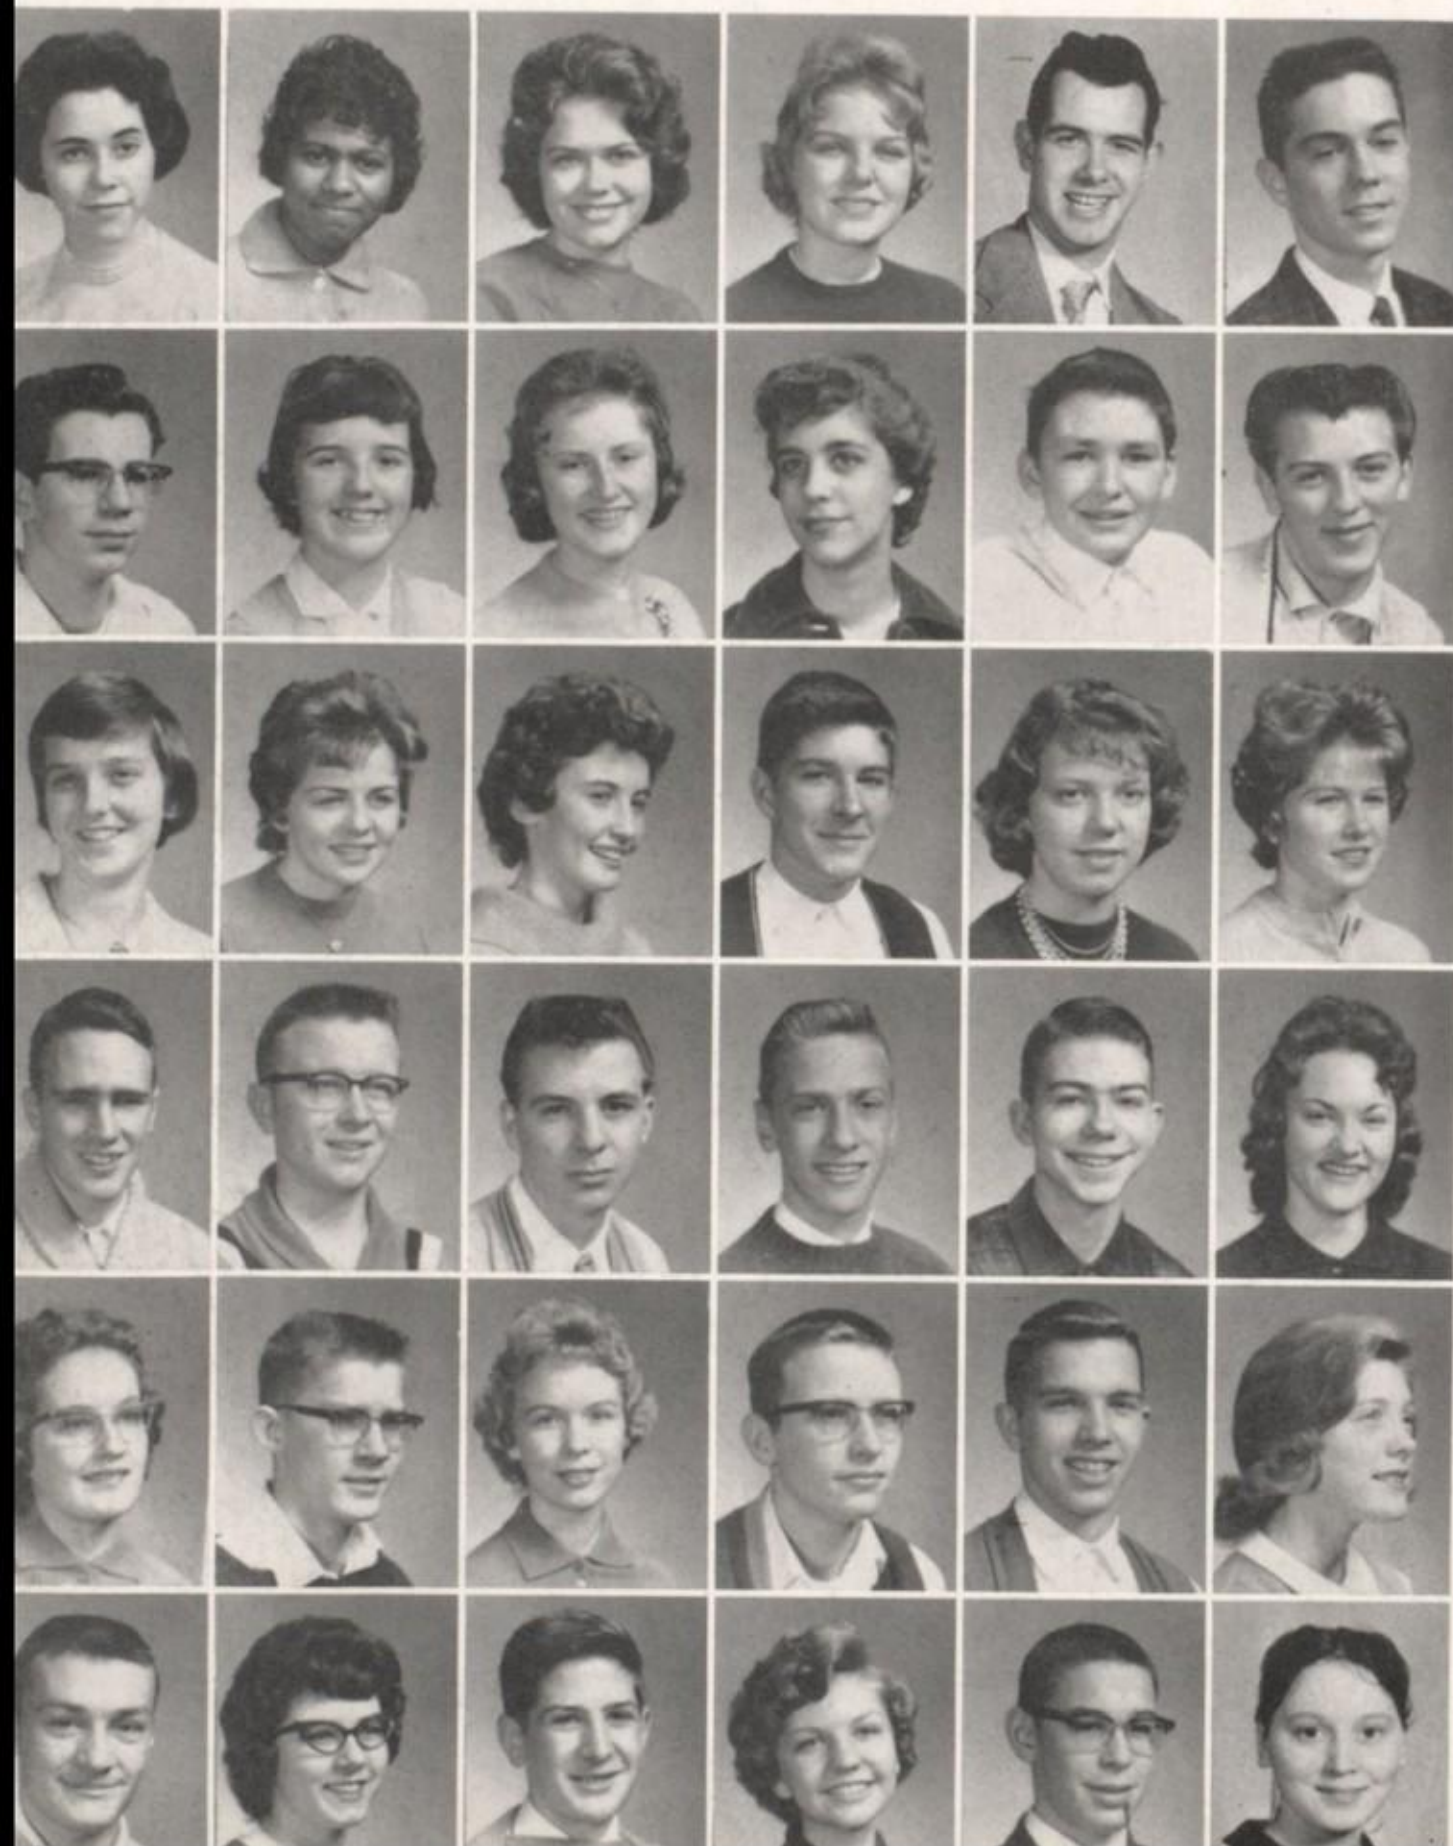

In spirit and cooperation, these students excel. Their foresight is illustrated by the fact that they are now industriously engaged in work to establish funds which will enable them to finance their junior-senior prom, for which plans will be inaugurated next fall.

The sophomore class is aided in its endeavors by Mr. McDowell, who is assisted by Mrs. Berkebille, Mr. Gray, Mr. Mollett, Miss Sharp, and Mr. Trott.

JUNIORS

Scholastic ability, class organization, and athletic ability are some of the fine attributes of the 162 members of the junior class. Their efforts culminated this year when they sponsored the traditional junior-senior prom, under the guidance of Mr. Krabill, Mrs. Arndt, Mrs. Artzner, Mr. George, and Mr. Helwick.

The class showed unusual cooperation and willingness as well as talent when they worked together to create one of the most successful proms ever held at Hoover High.

SENIORS

Row 1 (left to right): Marcella Kerr, historian; Cynthia Miller, secretary. Row 2: Karen Booth, treasurer; Ken Knoch, vice president. Row 3: Dan Pontius, president.

Four years ago, we were confused freshmen, young and bewildered, unaware of what lay ahead. We plunged into science, English, math, and history. Sports, music, and other activities soon were important in our daily lives as we became more and more a part of Hoover High.

During our years here we became united as a class and as a school. We learned to become better persons as we studied, cheered, and shared laughter and sorrow with one another.

Now, as the first class to complete four years in the new building, we reflect upon increased knowledge, lifelong friendships, and exhilarating experiences.

We leave Hoover High to become tomorrow's citizens and leaders of the city, nation, and world. From a common source, we diverge to all walks of life, taking with us memories of these years—memories to be relived whenever '61 alumni meet.

Any class would be proud to have among its members a person having the qualifications to give him or her recognition as an outstanding teenager. The seniors have had this honor by the placement of this title on one of their classmates. This representation of class and school illustrates the fine characteristics of Hoover High, and is a credit to the Vikings.

The Service Personnel Is An Important Part of Our Educational System.

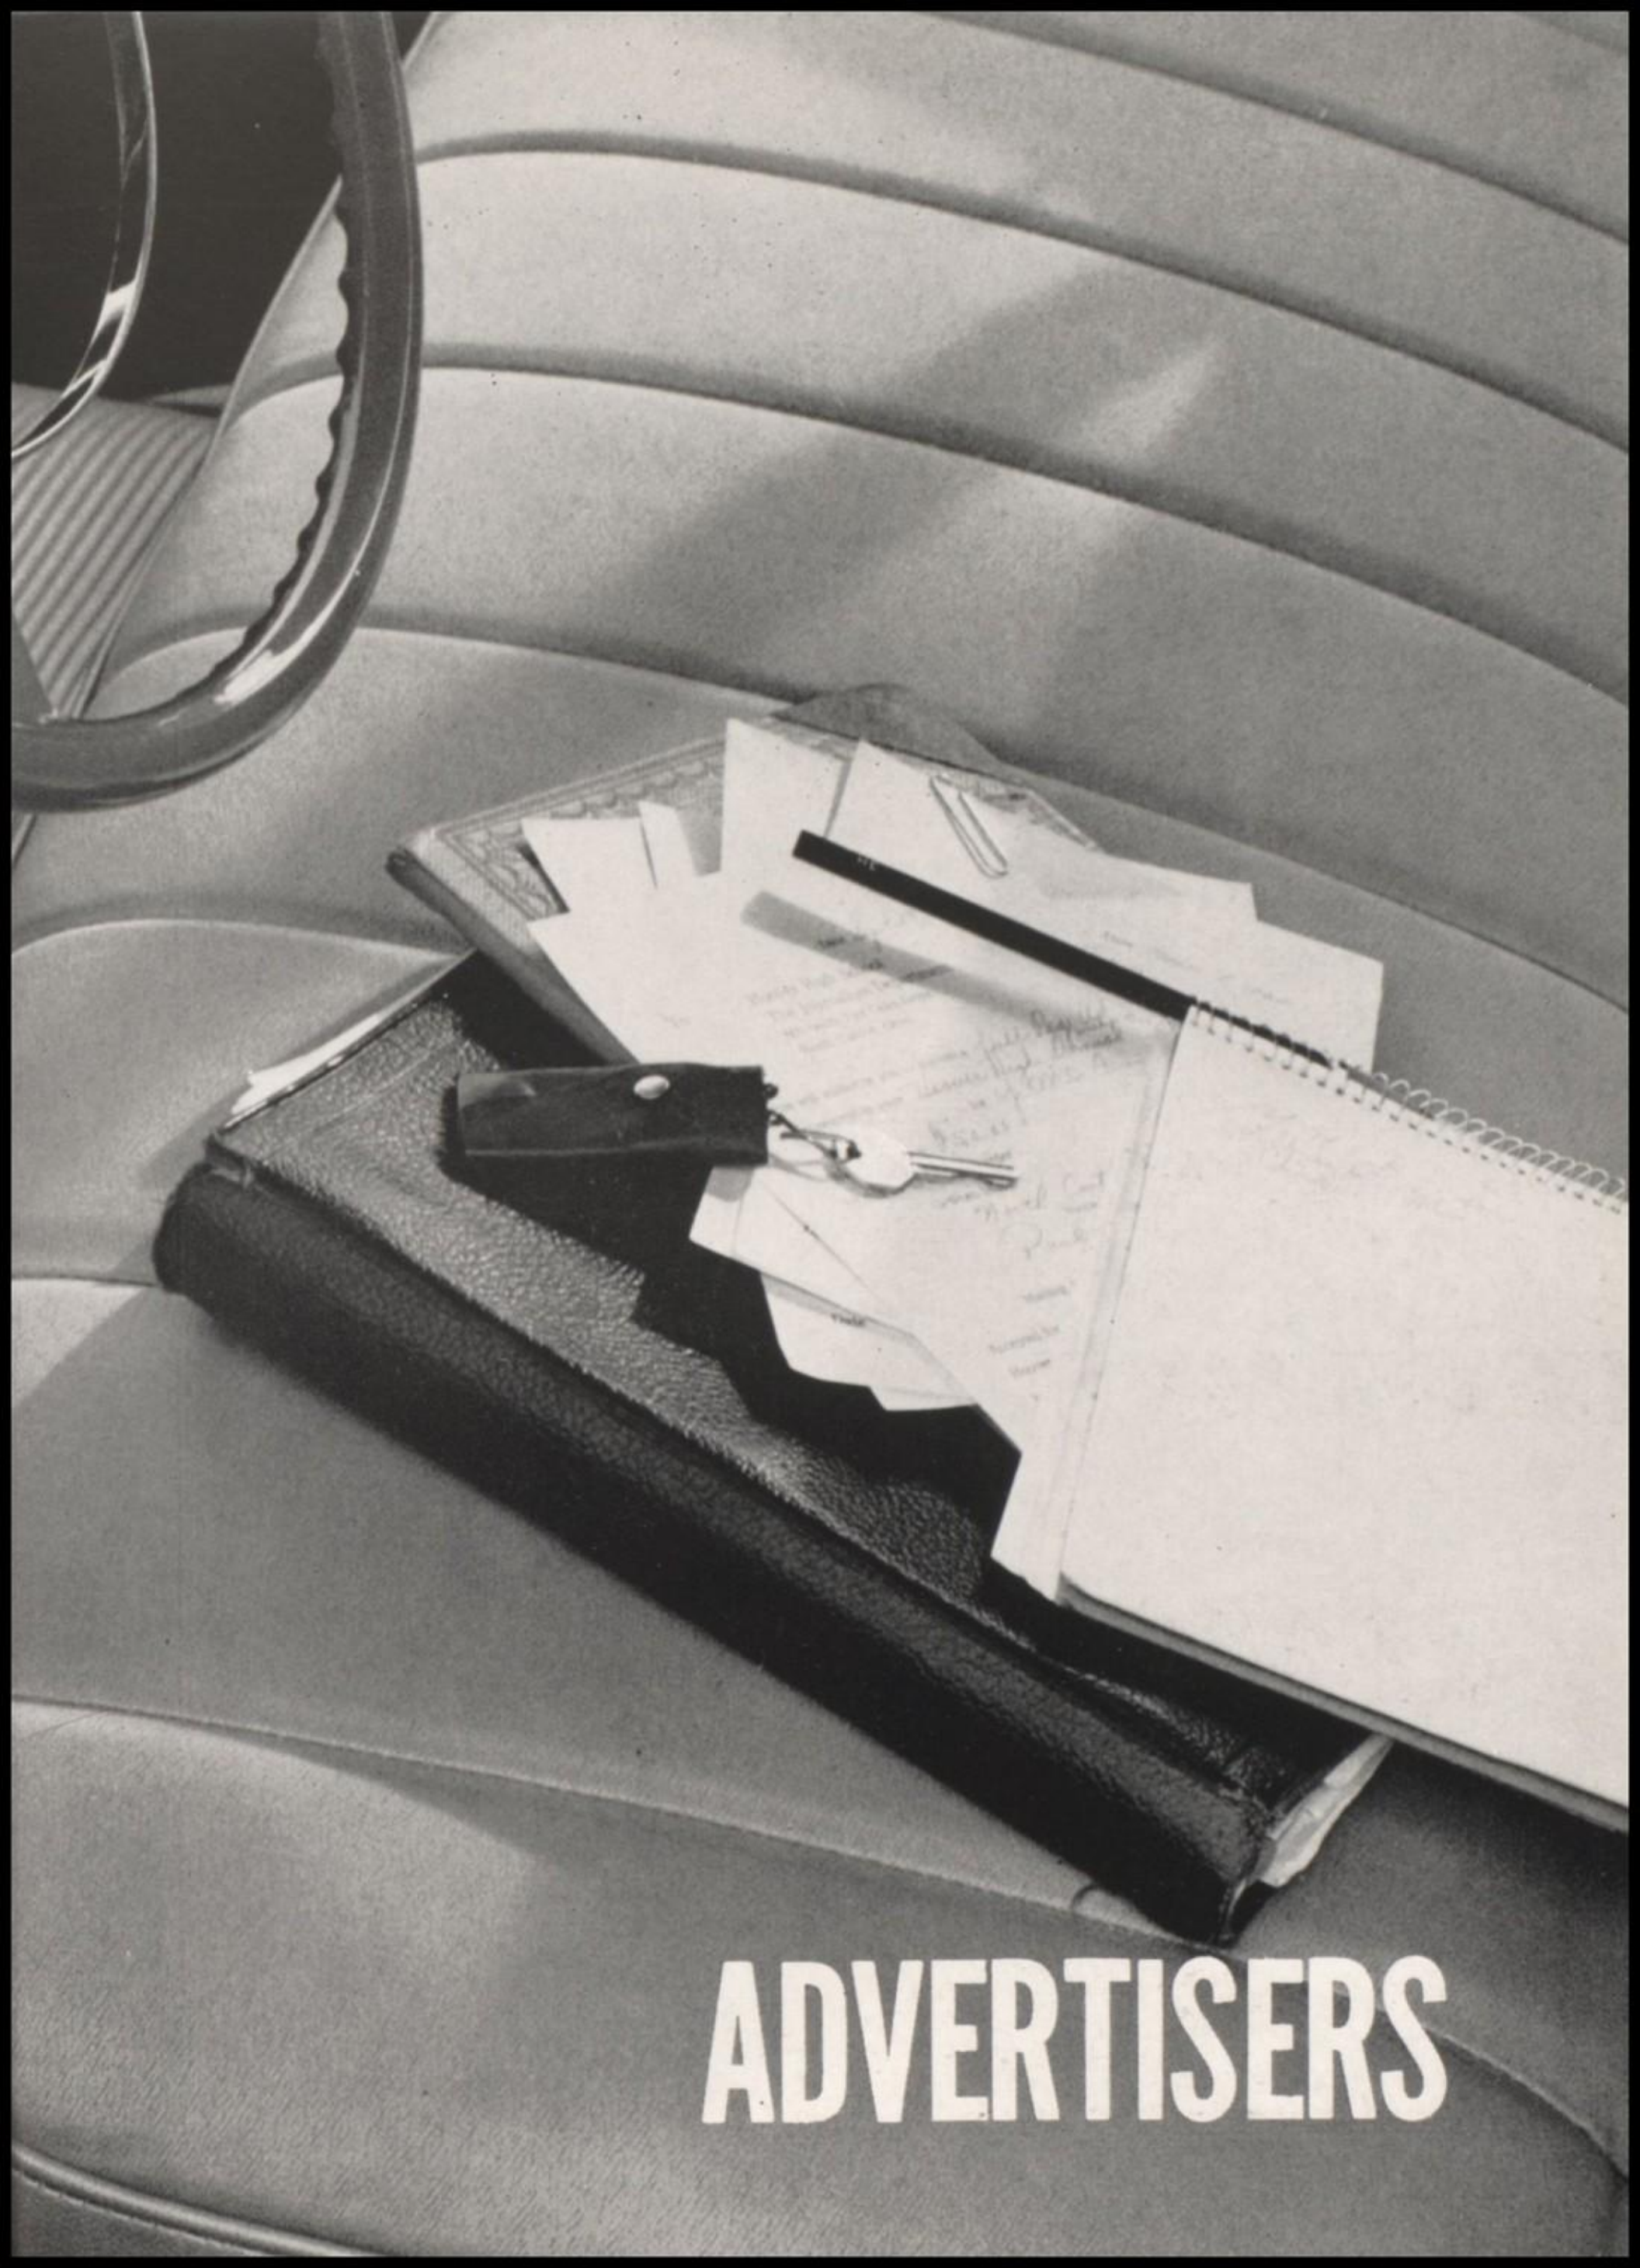

An inducement for learning is a healthy, clean environment such as is found here at Hoover. A balanced diet of wholesome food, along with a well-kept building, are essential parts of a school program. The cooks, the custodians, and the bus drivers contribute to the betterment of students and faculty by making their school life as pleasant as possible. We often underestimate the necessity of their presence, but we could never overestimate their value.

ADVERTISERS

Why the shoemaker's children went barefoot

ONCE THERE WAS A SHOEMAKER...

WHO DECIDED TO ASK FOR A RAISE

HIS BOSS WAS A GOOD GUY AND SAID...OKAY!

BUT THE BOSS FOUND HE HAD TO RAISE PRICES TO PAY FOR THE SHOEMAKER'S RAISE

WHEN THE BUTCHER, THE BAKER, THE CANDLESTICK MAKER FOUND OUT,

THEY HAD TO RAISE THEIR PRICES TO BUY THE MORE EXPENSIVE SHOES

WHEN THE SHOEMAKER'S WIFE WENT SHOPPING, SHE WAS HORRIFIED

SHE SPENT SO MUCH MONEY FOR EVERYTHING ELSE, SHE...

HER HUSBAND WAS PUZZLED BECAUSE WITH MORE MONEY HE COULDN'T BUY AS MUCH

THEN HIS BOSS FOUND A WAY FOR HIM TO MAKE MORE SHOES IN THE SAME TIME

NOW THE SHOEMAKER REALLY EARNS MORE BECAUSE HE CAN BUY MORE WITH HIS MONEY

THEY COMPILE A

The 1961 annual headquarters was in the magazine area of the library. Here the staff met to write and carry out the routines of editing this edition of the Viking.

Emily Swope, features editor, and her assistants, Darra Romick, Judy Alber, and Jane Andrews, did most of their planning at noon meetings. In addition to fourth period, Sandra Shelly found it necessary to confer with her assistant, Sally Schafer, during out-of-school hours to plan the activities section.

Jim Krichbaum and Ken Roberts, athletic editors, met with their assistant, Bud Swope, after school and during weekends to solve the many problems arising in their department.

Sally Deibel's art ability proved an asset to the staff, since her duties as art editor required that she design the cover and divider pages for the annual. She chose Sally Ruddicks as her assistant.

Shirley Hans and Marian Hoke, organizations editors, found their journalistic training very valuable in their copy writing.

A new position was created for this 1961 staff. Mark Buchtel was selected to serve as student photographer because of his interest in the field. He began his preparation for this position in the summer under the direction of Mr. George Engle of Troup and Pluto's Studio. Many of the pictures you have seen in this edition were taken by Mark with the new camera purchased this year.

The business transacted for the publication of the annual is detailed and involves hours of planning and work. Two faculty members cooperated with Mrs. Hammack in advising students working with advertisers, business manager, and subscriptions.

Carol Currie, subscriptions manager, and her staff advertised and started sales in November and succeeded in selling over 600 copies. Subscribers were permitted to pay $2.00 down; the remaining $2.00 payment was collected in March and April. Upon presenting their receipts, seniors received 1961 Vikings at the senior dinner and underclassmen received copies at the signing party sponsored by the Booster Club.

Mrs. Anne Berkebile advised the advertising staff. The managers, Carolyn Miller and Sue Sanderson, and their thirteen assistants have spent hours of time and miles of travel in contacting the advertisers whose support has made this publication possible. In addition to the contracts obtained, the advertisers' section had to be arranged for the printer. Carolyn Miller and Dave Sannes have devoted many periods to this operation.

Under Miss Hazel Kronk's guidance, Dave Sannes has taken care of the finances for the publication. He has accepted and recorded all money from advertisers and subscriptions and deposited it with Miss Mabel Studer in the principal's office. To keep the staff informed of the financial status, he prepared mimeographed reports.

Perhaps the most time-consuming work of producing the annual is the typing of copy. Through the cooperation of the faculty in releasing typists from classes one and one-half days, much of the laborious task was completed. The entire typing production has been under the direction of the four typists pictured below. They worked faithfully during study hall periods and some evenings to prepare the copy for the printer in March.

*"Out of the strain of the doing,
Into the peace of the done."*

J. L. M. WOODRUFF.

Here is your 1961 Viking. Its purpose is to portray a year of your life at Hoover High, as you would like to remember it.

The staff has enjoyed producing this edition and has eagerly anticipated seeing it in print. Each member has worked enthusiastically toward this goal, yet we know it could not have been reached without the help of many people.

Mrs. Martha Hammack, our advisor, has given invaluable aid, helpful suggestions, and abundant time to each phase of production. We thank her for her guidance and support, for without it this book could not have been compiled.

The interest and understanding of the entire faculty and administration is greatly appreciated. Their cooperation has been essential for the staff to function.

Mr. Joseph A. Deorio, Jr., and Mr. Richard Hoffman, representing Canton Engraving and Electrotape Company, have given continuous aid to an entirely "green" staff. To orient us, who last fall were in the unfamiliar world of annual journalism, they have made many trips to the school and have spent much time giving group and individual guidance. Their interest, time, and energy have been vitally important to the completion of this edition.

Our grateful thanks go to Troup and Pluto, photographers, for their excellent work in taking pictures for the Viking. Mr. George Engle, Mr. Walter D. Troup, and Mr. William Stoetzer have spent time and effort in taking and processing these pictures.

A special vote of thanks goes to Mr. Richard Dugan of Lee Studios in North Canton. His gracious permission for staff use of 1960 spring events pictures is sincerely appreciated.

Mueller Art Cover and Binding Company and its representative, Mr. Glen Hammill, helped us in matching the colors and textures of the cover of this year's annual. The art department of the company drafted the final version of this edition's cover, which was designed by our art editor.

An index of advertisers, which is on page 161, is included in the annual this year. These advertisers have contributed financial aid vitally important to production.

To these, and to the many others who have contributed aid and understanding, the annual staff extends sincere thanks.

Already, next year's staff members have begun work. Their talent and enthusiasm is sure to give us much to look forward to in the 1962 edition of the Viking. We wish them a happy and very successful year.
